Frost and subfreezing weather greeted much of the country today, with temperatures dipping in some areas well below zero.

The coldest weather was in South Dakota and Minnesota. At 1 a.m., Brainerd, Minn., reported a temperature of 18 below zero; it was 16 below at International Falls, Minn., and 11 below at Rapid City, S.D.

Readings were in the teens from the central Rockies through the central Plains, New Mexico, the mid-Mississippi Valley, the Ohio Valley and the north Atlantic coastal states. Temperatures in the 20s prevail across the Gulf Coast states except Florida.

Several new record lows were set shortly before midnight Monday. A 24-degree reading at Baton Rouge, La., set a record low for the date, as did 3 degrees recorded at Akron, Ohio, 14 at Huntington, W.Va., and 13 at Charleston, W.Va.

A freeze warning remained in effect across the lower Rio Grande Valley where heavy frost was expected in most areas and snow squalls continued across portions of the Great Lakes.

Heavy snow warnings remained in effect across western New York near lakes Ontario and Erie through today. Up to three feet of snow was expected by Wednesday.

Snow at depths of 19 inches at Houghton, Mich., 17 at Erie, Pa., 11 at Sault St. Marie, Mich., and 10 at Pellston, Mich.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 75 at Key West, Fla., to 16 below zero at International Falls, Minn.

Godfrey Cambridge Dies On Movie Set

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Godfrey Cambridge, the black comic-actor who wanted his movie roles to transcend color lines, has died of a heart attack after collapsing on a movie set. He was 43.

Cambridge collapsed Monday night while playing the role of Ugandan dictator Idi Amin on the set of the ABC television film "Victory at Entebbe." The movie portrays the daring Israeli commando rescue of hostages at the Entebbe, Uganda, airport last summer.

"Godfrey did two small scenes earlier today and was doing a simple walk-on scene, speaking to the hostages," said producer Bob Gunnette. "The scene was not even begun, Godfrey was waiting for a cue and he collapsed."

"There was absolutely no forewarning, he just went down. I think it was apparent to most of us around that he was gone."

Gunnette said Cambridge had arrived from his home in Ridgefield, Conn., earlier in the day.

The actor was taken to nearby St. Joseph's Hospital, where a team of doctors pronounced him dead on arrival.

Cambridge, rotund during much of his career, was a constant dieter who shed 170 pounds after ballooning to nearly 300 pounds. His weight had

2 Irish Terrorists Face Death Penalty

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Noel and Marie Murray have been sitting in the shadow of the gallows for six months.

The two confessed anarchists occupy death row cells in separate prisons, watched round the clock by guards who sit in their cells with them.

Noel, a 25-year-old engineer, and Marie, 27, were sentenced to death June 9 by Dublin's special criminal court, a nonjury tribunal, for killing a police constable during a bank holdup a year ago. She admitted shooting the policeman.

No one has been executed by the Irish government since 1954, and a woman has not been sent to the gallows since 1925. The prospect of a double hanging has aroused widespread controversy, both over capital punishment and the effect of sparing the Murrays might have on the government's campaign against the extremists of the Irish Republican Army.

The Supreme Court is expected to rule soon on the couple's appeal against the death sentences. They contend the capital punishment provision for murder of a police officer should not apply to them because their victim was off duty, was not in uniform, and they did not know he was a policeman.

In Ireland, the death penalty applies only to the murder of a head of state, diplomats, police and prison officers and killings by members of illegal organizations for political ends.

If the Supreme Court rejects the Murrays' appeal, Prime Minister Liam Cosgrave and his cabinet could WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Jimmy Carter says he has "sent word" to the nation's steel producers, urging them to reverse recent price hikes to avoid giving the oil-exporting countries an excuse to raise petroleum prices.

But Carter says the steelmakers were noncommittal in their responses.

Carter said Monday that senators and House members were conveying his message to the companies that higher steel prices will have a severe impact on inflation around the world.

In an interview with CBS anchorman Walter Cronkite, Carter said that if steel "prices are going up, I think it would be a good excuse for Iran and other nations to say, 'Well, if you increase steel prices in the middle of our oil meetings, then it's legitimate for us to raise our oil prices.'"

Iran and other members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, the oil cartel, are meeting in December to discuss an increase in oil prices. OPEC has defended previous price hikes by pointing to higher costs of manufactured goods made in oil-importing countries.

In the wake of the decision Monday by U.S. Steel, the nation's largest steel producer, Bethlehem Steel and Republic Steel to make the price hike virtually industry-wide, U.S. economists were predicting the higher cost of steel is likely to push up prices for a wide variety of consumer goods in the months ahead.

Carter said during his campaign that he would ask for stand-by authority to impose wage and price controls, although he said he didn't think they would be used. However, some economists have said that even the possibility of price controls may be causing worried businessmen to push through price increases they might otherwise wait on.

Meanwhile, Jerry Jasinowski, head of the economic policy group in Carter's transition staff, declined to

Ford Urges New GOP Policy Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — At President Ford's suggestion, Republican leaders are drafting plans for a new policy panel to guide the party and speak on the issues after Democrat Jimmy Carter moves into the White House.

A Republican source said Ford has indicated he would take an active role in such an operation, patterned on the party committee that set and spoke policy a decade ago, during another GOP rebuilding effort.

Mary Louise Smith, the resigning national chairman, told Republican governors Monday that she is exploring the possibility of setting up "a policy committee of Republican leaders whose specific task would be to harness ideas and set directions."

That was the concept of the Republican Coordinating Committee, which charted GOP policy when Lyndon B. Johnson was president.

It included congressional leaders, including Ford, governors, former presidential nominees and other party officials, and spanned GOP ideology from right to left.

That was not the only familiar formula advanced on Monday as GOP governors, only 12 of them surviving, discussed the Republican plight and future. Their two-day meeting winds up today.

The governors and other party leaders spent Monday talking of broadening GOP appeal, shelving ideological disputes and turning to a master organizer to lead rebuilding efforts for the next election.

In similar circumstances 12 years ago, their predecessors settled on much the same prescription. There were 17 Republican governors then, and Sen. Barry Goldwater had just lost a landslide to Johnson.

"The basic problem here is to broaden the base. That's the thing to be dealt with," said George Romney,

Overqualified Job Seekers Out In Cold

DETROIT (AP) — An employment agency for "overqualified" engineers and scientists is closing because the federal funds it sought for expansion are going to help hardcore unemployed and young job seekers instead.

Agency director Don Bennett said in 4½ years of operating on a shoestring budget he has helped 405 people, obtained jobs for 255, prepared 300 resumes and made 6,000 job referrals.

He said he feels the program, called REVEST (Volunteer Engineers Scientists and Technicians) filled a valuable need because professionals "often are much less competent job-seekers than the average worker."

Bennett said his agency, closing today, taught clients techniques to sell themselves to employers, since many professionals wrongly assume they will be hired for any job for which they are trained. Other problems professionals face are age barriers and companies' reluctance to hire people considered overqualified or overeducated, he said.

"A lot of professionals see themselves and their job as one," said Bennett. "When the job goes, the man loses part of himself. The result can be devastating — anger, frustration, sometimes actual mental disintegration."

Bennett's program, which has had only one or two paid employees and a few volunteers, also offered job search and solicitation services, evaluation, workshops and counseling.

The program was started with federal funds, and operated with the use of local funds. Its office, phone and mail service were paid for by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Main sources of income during the past two years have been a $25,000 federal grant administered by the Wayne County Office of Manpower, plus $100 monthly from the Affiliate Council of the Engineering Society of Detroit for operating expenses.

Bennett said he decided to shut down after the U.S. Department of Labor turned down his request recently for $250,000 to expand.

speculate whether the steel companies are seeking to take advantage of the transition period between the outgoing Ford administration and the incoming Carter administration in pushing through their price hikes.

"At this point we are still trying to assess the facts," Jasinowski said. "We should know more in a couple of days." He said he was preparing a report for Carter on the price move.

The increases, which are generally 6 per cent on flat-rolled steel, the kind used in autos and appliances, are effective Wednesday.

The Ford administration's Council on Wage and Price Stability also is looking into the increases and is preparing a report for President Ford.

The administration lacks authority to roll back price increases, and the investigation is intended simply to force the companies to justify their action. The steel producers that have announced price hikes will be asked to submit information to the council on prices, costs, demand and profits, a council spokesman said.

Officials said the price increases don't make sense to the council because the hikes come in the face of generally slack demand. Steelmakers had retreated from an earlier announced price increase in August because the market wouldn't support the higher prices.

His evident interest did not produce any swell of support among the governors. Several are pushing their own state chairmen for the job. Others are awaiting Ford's suggestion on a successor to Mrs. Smith.

In other conference developments: —Connally urged advocacy of a change in the tenure of federal officials. He proposed a six-year term for presidents with a one-term limit, one eight-year term for senators and four-year terms for the House with a two-term limit. Current officeholders would be exempt.

—Mrs. Smith and former Oregon Gov. Tom McCall dismissed suggestions by Ronald Reagan and other conservatives that the party change its name. "We don't need to change our name. We need to live up to it," Mrs. Smith said. McCall said somebody had proposed that if the GOP wants a new label, perhaps it should be called the Neo-Pachyderm Party.

Ohio Recount Helping Carter Tally

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President-Elect Jimmy Carter picked up nearly 500 votes in the first day of a recount of Ohio's presidential balloting.

But only eight of the state's 88 counties had completed retabulation of the official vote which gave Carter a 9,333-vote edge among more than four million cast.

As the recount began Monday, the U.S. Justice Department turned down a formal request from the Ohio Democratic Party to provide federal observers "at each and every recount session."

State Democratic Chairman Paul Tipps said Carter's Electors wanted federal watchdogs at the recount, partly because of fraud charges leveled against Democrats by the U.S. Labor Party. But a Justice Department spokesman said the federal government lacked jurisdiction in such cases.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said he expects the recount, browned at state expense by electoral college candidates who ran on behalf of President Ford, to be completed by the end of this week or early next week.

The petitioners were granted their request under a law that requires the state to pay for a recount if the winning margin was less than one per cent. Carter's razor thin edge amounted to .23 of one per cent, but it enabled him to snare Ohio's big bloc of 23 electoral votes, due for official tabulation Dec. 13.

Brown said Monday he expects the recount to proceed until finished in every county unless Franklin County Republican Chairman Russell Leach, and others who requested it, decide to call a halt.

With eight counties reporting by late Monday, the results showed Carter gaining mostly in Trumbull County where the president-elect picked up 252 votes and President Ford lost 202. Trumbull County election officials attributed the change to errors in transcribing figures.

Otherwise, there was no change in Marion or Hardin County. In Darke, Carter gained 139 votes and Ford picked up 105; in Pike, Carter lost seven and Ford gained four; in Preble, both candidates gained two votes. Incomplete recounts in Lucas and Mahoning Counties showed Carter lost a vote in each of those counties, while Ford gained four in Lucas and lost six in Mahoning.

Meanwhile, Brown said he would check out charges that Carter won Ohio as a result of fraud, mostly in connection with a voter registration drive backed by labor.

He said a list of about 1,300 names furnished him by two groups—the Committee for Fair Elections and Young Americans for Freedom—will be checked by local election officials.

Juan Torres of the fair elections group and Charles R. Beeson, representing the second organization, said the names on the list were

Officials Oppose School Experts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Officials for the city and state boards of education objected Monday to all five experts proposed by the NAACP to help formulate desegregation plans for Cleveland schools.

The NAACP submitted the names of five persons to U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti, suggesting he appoint two of them, one each for the city and state boards.

The five were Gordon Foster, director of the desegregation center at the University of Florida; Robert L. Green, dean of the college of urban development at Michigan State University; Michael Stolee, dean of the school of education at the University of Minnesota; Thomas Minter, superintendent of Wilmington, Del. schools; and Wayne Carle, education professor at Texas Southern University.

That was the concept of the Republican Coordinating Committee, which charted GOP policy when Lyndon B. Johnson was president.

It included congressional leaders, including Ford, governors, former presidential nominees and other party officials, and spanned GOP ideology from right to left.

That was not the only familiar formula advanced on Monday as GOP governors, only 12 of them surviving, discussed the Republican plight and future. Their two-day meeting winds up today.

The governors and other party leaders spent Monday talking of broadening GOP appeal, shelving ideological disputes and turning to a master organizer to lead rebuilding efforts for the next election.

In similar circumstances 12 years ago, their predecessors settled on much the same prescription. There were 17 Republican governors then, and Sen. Barry Goldwater had just lost a landslide to Johnson.

"The basic problem here is to broaden the base. That's the thing to be dealt with," said George Romney, the former Michigan governor, who was on hand Monday as he was in 1964.

Now, as then, the Republicans are in need of a new national party chairman and, as before, the governors want a voice in the selection.

John B. Connally, the Republican convert who once was a Democratic governor of Texas, told them the GOP needs a spokesman at the party helm, then added at a corridor news conference that he might be available for the job.

His evident interest did not produce any swell of support among the governors. Several are pushing their own state chairmen for the job. Others are awaiting Ford's suggestion on a successor to Mrs. Smith.

In other conference developments: —Connally urged advocacy of a change in the tenure of federal officials. He proposed a six-year term for presidents with a one-term limit, one eight-year term for senators and four-year terms for the House with a two-term limit. Current officeholders would be exempt.

—Mrs. Smith and former Oregon Gov. Tom McCall dismissed suggestions by Ronald Reagan and other conservatives that the party change its name. "We don't need to change our name. We need to live up to it," Mrs. Smith said. McCall said somebody had proposed that if the GOP wants a new label, perhaps it should be called the Neo-Pachyderm Party.

WASHINGTON (AP) — At President Ford's suggestion, Republican leaders are drafting plans for a new policy panel to guide the party and speak on the issues after Democrat Jimmy Carter moves into the White House.

A Republican source said Ford has indicated he would take an active role in such an operation, patterned on the party committee that set and spoke policy a decade ago, during another GOP rebuilding effort.

Mary Louise Smith, the resigning national chairman, told Republican governors Monday that she is exploring the possibility of setting up "a policy committee of Republican leaders whose specific task would be to harness ideas and set directions."

That was the concept of the Republican Coordinating Committee, which charted GOP policy when Lyndon B. Johnson was president.

It included congressional leaders, including Ford, governors, former presidential nominees and other party officials, and spanned GOP ideology from right to left.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices declined again today in a continuation of the market's concern over the economy's future growth.

After opening trades, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down more than two points.

And issues declining in price on the New York Stock Exchange led those advancing by an almost 2-1 margin.

Investors had been concerned Monday about the upcoming report on the government's index of leading economic indicators, a statistical measurement designed to foretell economic trends.

Late Monday, the Commerce Department delayed release of the report until Wednesday.

But dominant in the news was price increase on certain steel products announced by all major producers.

President-elect Jimmy Carter expressed concern that the hike might encourage the oil producing nations who want to raise their prices.

Today's early prices included Kresge, down 1/2 at 41 1/2; Westinghouse Electric, down 1/4 at 15 1/4; and Johnson-Manville, down 1/4 at 34 1/2.

On Monday, the Dow Jones industrial average fell 6.57 to 950.05. NYSE issues declined led those advancing by a 4-3 margin.

Volume on the exchange reached 19.75 million shares, up from the 15 million traded in the post-holiday session Friday.

The NYSE composite index declined .34 to 54.99.

And at the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost 1.13 and closed at 99.39.

Icy Roads Cause 10 Accidents In County

Two people suffered minor injuries on ice and snow covered Pickaway County roads Monday, although Sheriff's Deputies investigated 10 auto crashes.

Michael N. Luckenbach, 17, 5350 Mill St., Orient, was referred to a doctor for treatment of a forehead laceration he received in a single-car accident 1:09 p.m. Monday on Route 316, just west of the Route 23 intersection.

Deputy Sheriff Nick Franklin said Luckenbach had turned onto Route 316 from Route 23 when school books slid from the dashboard and distracted him.

His car slid off the north side of the road and struck a General Telephone Company pole, cracking it in the center.

Three other people in the car were not hurt. They were 16-year-old Tammy Luckenbach; Charles R. Smith, 17, 9950 Kepler-Ford Road, Orient; and Jackie A. Williams, 15, 7996 Route 762, Orient.

Robert L. Taylor, 18, Route 1, Ashville, was referred to a doctor for treatment of injuries to his right arm and elbow after a 3:14 p.m. Monday accident on the Walnut Creek Pike, six-tenths of a mile north of Route 752.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal said Taylor was driving south on the Walnut Creek Pike when he was forced to brake his International Scout after a northbound auto crossed the center line.

The Scout slid sideways 32 feet, went off the left side of the road, skidded 54 feet sideways in a ditch, and rolled to its top before hitting a fence owned by Gerald Burgoon, Route 1, Ashville.

A passenger, Paul R. Welsh, 17, 208 Randolph St., Ashville, was not hurt. Circleville Police Ptl. Robert Galer was not hurt when his patrol car slid on ice-covered Seyfert Ave. and hit a parked car.

Common Mart Panel Awaits Inauguration

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) — The leaders of the European Common Market agree that they cannot deal with many of their pressing economic problems until Jimmy Carter is inaugurated and the oil-exporting countries decide how much they are going to raise the price of crude oil.

Because of this, the nine Common Market countries generally agree that the so-called North-South conference between the industrial and developing countries, scheduled to open Dec. 15 in Paris, should be postponed, Foreign Minister Garrett Fitzgerald of Ireland told reporters Monday after the first day of a two-day meeting of Common Market presidents and prime ministers.

The participants in the Paris talks are the United States, seven other industrialized countries and 19 developing nations. The Third World nations hope to obtain help with their foreign debt burden and guaranteed prices for their raw materials as the first step toward a new world economic system. But a year of technical-level negotiations has made no progress.

"It makes absolutely no sense to push ahead" when U.S. policies may change after Jan. 20, West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt told a news conference.

Fitzgerald said the European

ODLC Decides On Violations

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has announced decisions against license holders that were found to be in violation of the terms of their permits.

Phillip McMahon, doing business as Haley's Cafe, 207 West Main St., was charged with the sale of beer to minors on October 21, 1976, and with furnishing beer to minors on October 21, 1976.

On the charge of selling beer to minors, the commission moved to suspend the license for 14 days, beginning at noon on Dec. 15 and ending at noon on Dec. 29.

On the charge of furnishing beer to minors, the commission moved to suspend the license for 14 days, to be concurrent with the first suspension.

Grace Slick Wed To Lighting Chief

KAANAPALI, Hawaii (AP) — Grace Slick, lead singer of the Jefferson Starship, has married the band's lighting director, Skip Johnson.

The wedding took place Monday in a private oceanside ceremony at a resort hotel here.

It was the second marriage for Mrs. Slick, 37, and the first for the 24-year-old groom.

Ptl. Galer was responding to a traffic accident when his cruiser, Circleville Car 11, slid against the right curb of Seyfert Ave. 4:05 p.m. Monday.

The patrol car bounced off the right curb and hit a parked car owned by Phyllis M. Williams, 111 Seyfert Ave. Deputy Danny Dewey investigated the accident.

Deputies investigated seven other non-injury accidents, including:

A 10:56 a.m. Monday crash in which a truck driven by Robert Phillips, 48, 405 S. Pickaway St., collided with a car driven by Robert D. Cline, 27, Columbus, on Route 22, west of the Route 23 intersection;

A 12:05 p.m. Monday accident in which Kevin L. Pennington, 18, 2854 Walnut Creek Pike, slid off the right side of the Bell Station Road, east of the Walnut Creek Pike;

A 1:45 p.m. Monday accident in which Perri Martin, 18, 4220 Bell Station Road, slid off the Walnut Creek Pike, south of the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road;

A 3 p.m. Monday accident in which cars driven by Richard Devors, 31, Chillicothe, and Kimberly Lee, 16, 5046 Cook Road, Ashville, backed into each other on Cook Road, north of Crites Drive;

A 4:26 p.m. Monday accident in which Wanita Nardi, Ashville, slid into a ditch and fence on the Ashville Pike, just south of the St. Paul Road;

A 4:30 p.m. Monday accident in which Frank Lutz, 74, Route 2, Williamsport, slid into a parked car at the intersection of S. Water St. and Walnut St. in Williamsport;

And a 3 a.m. Tuesday accident in which Peggy L. Vanover, 38, 85 Redding St., Tarlton, slid into a fence on the South Perry Road, east of Route 56.

leaders favor a delay until February or March.

There have been rumors that the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) might delay its price-raising meeting scheduled for Dec. 15 until after the start of the North-South conference to see if the industrialized world offered the poor countries any concessions. But the pressure from Iran, Iraq, Venezuela and some other oil countries for a price increase is so great that a long delay seems unlikely.

The Middle East Economic Survey said the "reshuffling of dates is a reflection of the intricate poker game now being played between the industrialized nations and the OPEC-Third World grouping, neither of which wants to show its cards until it has seen the other's hand."

OPEC is expected to raise prices of crude oil between five and 15 per cent. The present basic price is $11.51 per barrel.

The Common Market conference was told Monday that Western Europe's economy has been stagnating for several months and that the situation will probably get worse when the price of oil goes up. A 10 per cent increase would cost the Common Market $4.9 billion next year.

Ohio Jobless Rate Drops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio unemployment has dropped two percentage points in the past year, the Bureau of Employment Services said Monday, standing at 6.3 per cent in October.

The figure is a slight rise from September's figure of 6.2 per cent, but well below the 8.3 per cent level of October 1975, the bureau said.

The bureau estimated Ohio's unemployment at 297,000 in October. Total employment rose slightly from September, hitting 4.41 million.

The number of manufacturing workers in Ohio dropped 3 per cent to 1.26 million, with nearly 75 per cent of the decline due to strikes in automotive and various metal industries.

Employment in nonmanufacturing industries gained 0.8 per cent from September, hitting almost 2.82 million.

Public Utilities Board Meets Monday Night

The Board of Public Utilities met in regular session Monday evening in the Water Department Offices on West Franklin St.

Public Utilities Director Chuck Taylor read the minutes of the previous meeting and presented vouchers for the approval of the board members. The only unusual vouchers were $321 in insurance payments to Dale Delong and Johnson Insurance Agency. These insurance payments are part of the insurance protection for the new sewage treatment plant.

The 1977 budget for the public utilities department was presented and tabled for further discussion.

Taylor also informed the board of the department's plans for the mayor's inventory.

The board was also given progress reports. The general contract on the new sewage treatment plant is 85 per cent complete, sludge conditioning is 44 per cent complete, the heating and ventilation contract with J.A. Guy is reported to be 88 per cent complete. These are all connected with the new sewage treatment plant, as well as the American Electrical contract at the new plant, which is 75 per cent complete. The new elevated storage tank is 95 per cent complete. Contract 1S has been awarded, and work is expected to begin on that project in February. Contract 1S is the sewer interceptor project and lift station at Ted Lewis Park.

Contract 2 is 75 per cent complete. That contract deals with the connection of the old sewer plant with the new one on Route 22 west of town. Workmen have finished installing the sewer on the west bank of the river, and have dammed the east side in preparation for installing the sewer line there.

No decision has been reached in the Hazen and Sawyer federal court case, where city officials are seeking a change of venue from New York to Columbus.

After the agenda had been completed, board members and Taylor discussed the various problems that had occurred in the construction of the new sewage treatment plant.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices declined again today in a continuation of the market's concern over the economy's future growth.

After opening trades, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down more than two points.

And issues declining in price on the New York Stock Exchange led those advancing by an almost 2-1 margin.

Investors had been concerned Monday about the upcoming report on the government's index of leading economic indicators, a statistical measurement designed to foretell economic trends.

Late Monday, the Commerce Department delayed release of the report until Wednesday.

But dominant in the news was price increase on certain steel products announced by all major producers.

President-elect Jimmy Carter expressed concern that the hike might encourage the oil producing nations who want to raise their prices.

Today's early prices included Kresge, down 1/2 at 41 1/2; Westinghouse Electric, down 1/4 at 15 1/4; and Johnson-Mannville, down 1/4 at 34 1/2.

On Monday, the Dow Jones industrial average fell 6.57 to 950.05. NYSE issues declined led those advancing by a 4-3 margin.

Volume on the exchange reached 19.75 million shares, up from the 15 million traded in the post-holiday session Friday.

The NYSE composite index declined .34 to 34.59.

And at the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost 1.13 and closed at 99.39.

Icy Roads Cause 10 Accidents In County

Two people suffered minor injuries on ice and snow covered Pickaway County roads Monday, although Sheriff's Deputies investigated 10 auto crashes.

Michael N. Luckenbach, 17, 5350 Mill St., Orient, was referred to a doctor for treatment of a forehead laceration he received in a single-car accident 1:09 p.m. Monday on Route 316, just west of the Route 23 intersection.

Deputy Sheriff Nick Franklin said Luckenbach had turned onto Route 316 from Route 23 when school books slid from the dashboard and distracted him.

His car slid off the north side of the road and struck a General Telephone Company pole, cracking it in the center.

Three other people in the car were not hurt. They were 16-year-old Tammy Luckenbach; Charles R. Smith, 17, 9950 Keplar-Ford Road, Orient; and Jackie A. Williams, 15, 7996 Route 762, Orient.

Robert L. Taylor, 18, Route 1, Ashville, was referred to a doctor for treatment of injuries to his right arm and elbow after a 3:14 p.m. Monday accident on the Walnut Creek Pike, six-tenths of a mile north of Route 752.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal said Taylor was driving south on the Walnut Creek Pike when he was forced to brake his International Scout after a northbound auto crossed the center line.

The Scout slid sideways 32 feet, went off the left side of the road, skidded 54 feet sideways in a ditch, and rolled to its top before hitting a fence owned by Gerald Burgoon, Route 1, Ashville.

A passenger, Paul R. Welsh, 17, 208 Randolph St., Ashville, was not hurt. Circleville Police Ptl. Robert Galer was not hurt when his patrol car slid on ice-covered Seyfert Ave. and hit a parked car.

Common Mart Panel Awaits Inauguration

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) — The leaders of the European Common Market agree that they cannot deal with many of their pressing economic problems until Jimmy Carter is inaugurated and the oil-exporting countries decide how much they are going to raise the price of crude oil.

Because of this, the nine Common Market countries generally agree that the so-called North-South conference between the industrial and developing countries, scheduled to open Dec. 15 in Paris, should be postponed. Foreign Minister Garrett Fitzgerald of Ireland told reporters Monday after the first day of a two-day meeting of Common Market presidents and prime ministers.

The participants in the Paris talks are the United States, seven other industrialized countries and 19 developing nations. The Third World nations hope to obtain help with their foreign debt burden and guaranteed prices for their raw materials as the first step toward a new world economic system. But a year of technical-level negotiations has made no progress.

"It makes absolutely no sense to push ahead" when U.S. policies may change after Jan. 20, West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt told a news conference.

Fitzgerald said the European

ODLC Decides On Violations

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has announced decisions against license holders that were found to be in violation of the terms of their permits.

Phillip McMahon, doing business as Haley's Cafe, 207 West Main St., was charged with the sale of beer to minors on October 21, 1976, and with furnishing beer to minors on October 21, 1976.

On the charge of selling beer to minors, the commission moved to suspend the license for 14 days, beginning at noon on Dec. 15 and ending at noon on Dec. 29.

On the charge of furnishing beer to minors, the commission moved to suspend the license for 14 days, to be concurrent with the first suspension.

Grace Slick Wed To Lighting Chief

KAANAPALI, Hawaii (AP) — Grace Slick, lead singer of the Jefferson Starship, has married the band's lighting director, Skip Johnson.

The wedding took place Monday in a private oceanside ceremony at a resort hotel here.

It was the second marriage for Mrs. Slick, 37, and the first for the 24-year-old groom.

Ptl. Galer was responding to a traffic accident when his cruiser, Circleville Car 11, slid against the right curb of Seyfert Ave. 4:05 p.m. Monday.

The patrol car bounced off the right curb and hit a parked car owned by Phyllis M. Williams, 111 Seyfert Ave. Deputy Danny Dewey investigated the accident.

Deputies investigated seven other non-injury accidents, including:

A 10:56 a.m. Monday crash in which a truck driven by Robert Phillips, 48, 405 S. Pickaway St., collided with a car driven by Robert D. Cline, 27, Columbus, on Route 22, west of the Route 23 intersection;

A 12:05 p.m. Monday accident in which Kevin L. Pennington, 18, 2854 Walnut Creek Pike, slid off the right side of the Bell Station Road, east of the Walnut Creek Pike;

A 1:45 p.m. Monday accident in which Perri Martin, 18, 4220 Bell Station Road, slid off the Walnut Creek Pike, south of the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road;

A 3 p.m. Monday accident in which cars driven by Richard Devors, 31, Chillicothe, and Kimberly Lee, 16, 5046 Cook Road, Ashville, backed into each other on Cook Road, north of Crites Drive;

A 4:26 p.m. Monday accident in which Wanita Nardi, Ashville, slid into a ditch and fence on the Ashville Pike, just south of the St. Paul Road;

A 4:30 p.m. Monday accident in which Frank Lutz, 74, Route 2, Williamsport, slid into a parked car at the intersection of S. Water St. and Walnut St. in Williamsport;

And a 3 a.m. Tuesday accident in which Peggy L. Vanover, 38, 85 Redding St., Tarlton, slid into a fence on the South Perry Road, east of Route 56.

leaders favor a delay until February or March. There have been rumors that the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) might delay its price-raising meeting scheduled for Dec. 15 until after the start of the North-South conference to see if the industrialized world offered the poor countries any concessions. But the pressure from Iran, Iraq, Venezuela and some other oil countries for a price increase is so great that a long delay seems unlikely.

The Middle East Economic Survey said the "reshuffling of dates is a reflection of the intricate poker game now being played between the industrialized nations and the OPEC Third World grouping, neither of which wants to show its cards until it has seen the other's hand."

OPEC is expected to raise prices of crude oil between five and 15 per cent. The present basic price is $11.51 per barrel. The Common Market conference was told Monday that Western Europe's economy has been stagnating for several months and that the situation will probably get worse when the price of oil goes up. A 10 per cent increase would cost the Common Market $4.9 billion next year.

All members are urged to attend the meeting to cast their ballots. Past Chancellors are asked to attend for the Grand Lodge election.

Members of the Lunch Committee are David Blue, Loren Neff, and Paul Reed.

Ohio Jobless Rate Drops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio unemployment has dropped two percentage points in the past year, the Bureau of Employment Services said Monday, standing at 6.3 per cent in October.

The figure is a slight rise from September's figure of 6.2 per cent, but well below the 8.3 per cent level of October 1975, the bureau said.

The bureau estimated Ohio's unemployment at 297,000 in October. Total employment rose slightly from September, hitting 4.41 million.

The number of manufacturing workers in Ohio dropped 3 per cent to 1.26 million, with nearly 75 per cent of the decline due to strikes in automotive and various metal industries.

Employment in nonmanufacturing industries gained 0.8 per cent from September, hitting almost 2.82 million.

Public Utilities Board Meets Monday Night

The Board of Public Utilities met in regular session Monday evening in the Water Department Offices on West Franklin St.

Public Utilities Director Chuck Taylor read the minutes of the previous meeting and presented vouchers for the approval of the board members. The only unusual vouchers were $321 in insurance payments to Dale Delong and Johnson Insurance Agency. These insurance payments are part of the insurance protection for the new sewage treatment plant.

The 1977 budget for the public utilities department was presented and tabled for further discussion.

Taylor also informed the board of the department's plans for the mayor's inventory.

The board was also given progress

reports. The general contract on the new sewage treatment plant is 85 per cent complete, sludge conditioning is 44 per cent complete, the heating and ventilation contract with J.A. Guy is reported to be 88 per cent complete. These are all connected with the new sewage treatment plant, as well as the American Electrical contract at the new plant, which is 75 per cent complete. The new elevated storage tank is 95 per cent complete. Contract 1S has been awarded, and work is expected to begin on that project in February. Contract 1S is the sewer interceptor project and lift station at Ted Lewis Park.

Contract 2 is 75 per cent complete. That contract deals with the connection of the old sewer plant with the new one on Route 22 west of town. Workmen have finished installing the sewer on the west bank of the river, and have dammed the 'east side' in preparation for installing the sewer line there.

No decision has been reached in the Hazen and Sawyer federal court case, where city officials are seeking a change of venue from New York to Columbus.

After the agenda had been completed, board members and Taylor discussed the various problems that had occurred in the construction of the new sewage treatment plant.

Campus Notes

More than 40 seniors in retailing at Purdue University will spend the next two months interning at major department stores throughout the Midwest.

The seniors in the Department of Consumer Science and Retailing in the School of Consumer and Family Sciences are taking part in the second annual internship program that offers students the opportunity for paid experience in their fields.

Participating in the internship program is Jill Hoffman, Route 2. She will work in sales, supervision and in customer service, according to Prof. Ellen Flottman, coordinator of the internships. The students will learn first-hand from store employees, who will supervise and train them.

Upon graduation, most of the seniors will be looking for jobs in store management, personnel or buying. Some of the department stores taking part view the experience as a type of recruiting technique as well; many of last year's participants were asked to return on a permanent basis.

Stores participating in the program include: Marshall Field and Co., Wieboldt Stores Inc., William H. Block and Co., L.S. Ayres and Co., Elder-Beerman Stores, Sears, H. & S. Pogue Co., Charles A. Stevens & Co., H. P. Wasson and Co., Loeb's, and Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co.

State Energy Problem Remains

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Webster's Dictionary defines "crisis" as a "turning point for better or worse...a decisive moment...an emotionally significant event or radical change of status quo in a person's life."

But the term "energy crisis" isn't in the dictionary yet and the meaning is far from clear. Does an "energy crisis" still exist in Ohio?

"I don't think you can have a three-year turning point," said William Chaddock of Columbia Gas of Ohio, recalling the phrase "energy crisis" was first used widely in 1973. "Energy problem" might be a better word," he added.

Peter Susey, deputy director of research and development for the Ohio Energy and Resource Development Agency (ERDA), said, "It's a philosophical question, and I don't think the man on the street perceives it as a crisis. It's a crisis by my perspective in terms of what are the longer range implications. I can still see gas shortages becoming more acute."

To Rep. Thomas J. Carney, a leader in energy legislation, an energy crisis suggests "an impending disaster and I don't think that's a phrase that ought to be used anymore."

Carney, D-71 Youngstown, agrees with Chaddock, whose firm supplies natural gas to two-thirds of Ohio. The situation is better defined as a problem. "We know that we're dealing with an exhaustive amount of natural resources and I think what we have to establish is a public awareness that the decisions we make today are certainly going to have an effect on future generations," Carney said.

The three agree that the "good old days" of plentiful fuel and low utility rates are gone — forever.

That will be clear in the coming winter months, particularly if the cold wave that recently brought 32 consecutive days of below normal temperatures in central Ohio continues.

"We're so much at the mercy of the weather," explains Chaddock. "One of the biggest problems that the country has faced over the last three years has seemed insignificant because of warm weather. We have been very, very fortunate."

But Ohio's luck on weather may be running out.

"October was 60 per cent colder than normal," Chaddock says. "Our customers are going to be getting some unseasonably high bills."

Columbia, which serves more than 1 million Ohioans in 62 counties, has already announced natural gas curtailments of 100 per cent for large industrial boilers, 65 per cent for industries that can substitute other fuels, and 10 per cent for those that can't use other fuels.

Major commercial customers — schools, shopping centers, churches — face a rationing of 40 per cent of their normal allotment. The residential sector will not be affected, but state and utility spokesmen are urging homeowners and renters to keep their thermostats at 67 degrees.

"Energy conservation does not mean that we must give up the good life," said Robert Ryan, executive director of Ohio ERDA. "More simply, we must discourage the waste of energy, to save for those who really need it."

Ryan pushes a Home Energy Savers program stressing weatherization and insulation as "major elements in the development of an effective conservation ethic."

"The residential sector of Ohio is responsible for 20.4 per cent of the total energy consumption within the state and approximately 80 per cent of the homes in Ohio are inadequately insulated," he said. "Moderate expenditures on residential weatherization could save from 10 to 20 per cent of the energy consumed and free more than 60.7 billion British Thermal Units (BTU's) of natural gas for Ohio's industrial and commercial users."

Ryan's office has a toll-free telephone for information on the energy savers program at 1-800-282-9234.

The challenge for officials like Ryan and Susey is developing that ethic or awareness among a public that has tended more and more in recent years toward cynicism when government or politics are involved in an issue.

"Look what's happened to car sales," Susey noted. "They're all going back to large cars. Everyone thinks it (a gas shortage) a monumental hoax and they don't care."

Even legislators who promote energy bills sometimes have their doubts.

"The difficulty is the credibility of the whole thing," says Carney, "and I am having that problem also."

To be sure, Carney agrees energy resources are being depleted, but he feels national policies, particularly in dealing with the Arab oil-producing nations, have fogged the energy picture.

Campus Notes

More than 40 seniors in retailing at Purdue University will spend the next two months interning at major department stores throughout the Midwest.

The seniors in the Department of Consumer Science and Retailing in the School of Consumer and Family Sciences are taking part in the second annual internship program that offers students the opportunity for paid experience in their fields.

Participating in the internship program is Jill Hoffman, Route 2. She will work in sales, supervision and in customer service, according to Prof. Ellen Flottman, coordinator of the internships. The students will learn first-hand from store employees, who will supervise and train them.

Upon graduation, most of the seniors will be looking for jobs in store management, personnel or buying. Some of the department stores taking part view the experience as a type of recruiting technique as well; many of last year's participants were asked to return on a permanent basis.

Stores participating in the program include: Marshall Field and Co., Wieboldt Stores Inc., William H. Block and Co., L.S. Ayres and Co., Elder-Beerman Stores, Sears, H. & S. Pogue Co., Charles A. Stevens & Co., H. P. Wasson and Co., Loeb's, and Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co.

Timothy B. Pusey, son of Major and Mrs. Paul M. Pusey, Selfridge Ang Base, Mich., has been selected for listing in Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities. The senior at Trevecca Nazarene College is formerly from Circleville.

Pusey, a music education major, is in the concert choir and concert band. He sang one year with The Encounters, a traveling singing group, and was a soloist in one year's presentation of The Messiah.

An honor student and honor society member, Pusey was a member of the Student Mission Corps to the Dominican Republic in the summer of 1976.

In the area of service, Pusey was president of the Civitan Club, vice-president of the junior class, a departmental assistant in fine arts and a dormitory resident assistant.

He is a member of the College Hill Church of The Nazarene in Nashville.

Trevecca is a four-year, liberal arts, fully accredited college in Nashville, Tenn.

Kris Ried, a senior at Miami University, is academics editor and photographer of the "Recension" yearbook. The senior journalism major is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ried, 833 Pershing Drive.

Miss Ried will be attending a Yearbook Convention in Winston-Salem in December.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Webster's Dictionary defines "crisis" as a "turning point for better or worse...a decisive moment...an emotionally significant event or radical change of status quo in a person's life."

But the term "energy crisis" isn't in the dictionary yet and the meaning is far from clear. Does an "energy crisis" still exist in Ohio?

"I don't think you can have a three-year turning point," said William Chaddock of Columbia Gas of Ohio, recalling the phrase "energy crisis" was first used widely in 1973. "Energy problem" might be a better word," he added.

Peter Susey, deputy director of research and development for the Ohio Energy and Resource Development Agency (ERDA), said, "It's a philosophical question, and I don't think the man on the street perceives it as a crisis. It's a crisis by my perspective in terms of what are the longer range implications. I can still see gas shortages becoming more acute."

To Rep. Thomas J. Carney, a leader in energy legislation, an energy crisis suggests "an impending disaster and I don't think that's a phrase that ought to be used anymore."

Carney, D-71 Youngstown, agrees with Chaddock, whose firm supplies natural gas to two-thirds of Ohio: The situation is better defined as a problem. "We know that we're dealing with an exhaustible amount of natural resources and I think what we have to establish is a public awareness that the decisions we make today are certainly going to have an effect on future generations," Carney said.

The three agree that the "good old days" of plentiful fuel and low utility rates are gone — forever.

That will be clear in the coming winter months, particularly if the cold wave that recently brought 32 consecutive days of below normal temperatures in central Ohio continues.

"We're so much at the mercy of the weather," explains Chaddock. "One of the biggest problems that the country has faced over the last three years has seemed insignificant because of warm weather. We have been very, very fortunate."

But Ohio's luck on weather may be running out.

State Energy Problem Remains

"October was 60 per cent colder than normal," Chaddock says. "Our customers are going to be getting some unseasonably high bills."

Columbia, which serves more than 1 million Ohioans in 62 counties, has already announced natural gas curtailments of 100 per cent for large industrial boilers, 65 per cent for industries that can substitute other fuels, and 10 per cent for those that can't use other fuels.

Major commercial customers — schools, shopping centers, churches — face a rationing of 40 per cent of their normal allotment. The residential sector will not be affected, but state and utility spokesmen are urging homeowners and renters to keep their thermostats at 67 degrees.

"Energy conservation does not mean that we must give up the good life," said Robert Ryan, executive director of Ohio ERDA. "More simply, we must discourage the waste of energy, to save for those who really need it."

Ryan pushes a Home Energy Savers program stressing weatherization and insulation as "major elements in the development of an effective conservation ethic."

"The residential sector of Ohio is responsible for 20.4 per cent of the total energy consumption within the state and approximately 80 per cent of the homes in Ohio are inadequately insulated," he said. "Moderate expenditures on residential weatherization could save from 10 to 20 per cent of the energy consumed and free more than 60.7 billion British Thermal Units (BTU's) of natural gas for Ohio's industrial and commercial users."

Ryan's office has a toll-free telephone for information on the energy savers program at 1-800-282-9234.

The challenge for officials like Ryan and Susey is developing that ethic or awareness among a public that has tended more and more in recent years toward cynicism when government or politics are involved in an issue.

"Look what's happened to car sales," Susey noted. "They're all going back to large cars. Everyone thinks it (a gas shortage) is a monumental hoax and they don't care."

Even legislators who promote energy bills sometimes have their doubts.

"The difficulty is the credibility of the whole thing," says Carney, "and I am having that problem also."

To be sure, Carney agrees energy resources are being depleted, but he feels national policies, particularly in dealing with the Arab oil-producing nations, have fogged the energy picture.

Taxing Skills

When the commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service includes a personal note with tax forms sent to taxpayers warning that "completing your return this year could be more difficult," you better believe it. The IRS does not like to advertise the fact that the monsters it puts in the mail between Christmas and New Year probably are the best aid the aspirin industry has going for it.

No one is talking about simplifying the form 1040 this year. It would be a joke if they did. Partly to comply with the 1976 Tax Reform Act, both the standard form 1040 and the short form 1040A have been changed.

A major change taxpayers who struggle with their own forms will notice on the 1040 is that instead of those convenient and relatively easy to use tax tables (assuming the right one was chosen), the arithmetic leading up to the correct tax will have to be performed by the taxpayer.

IRS says it is preparing for more arithmetic errors this year. If enough taxpayers get the word in time, sales of the little pocket calculators should boom this Christmas season.

Slow Boat To China

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — There are Americans who have been waiting as long as four years to obtain a visa to visit the People's Republic of China.

Kwangchow (Canton) and Peking are the "in" places to travel. But they have been "out" for the average citizen.

"If you wanted to visit China, you've always had to have a specific 'reason.' And your 'reason' had to be something that could help China with its problems," says Ruthanne Devlin. "Groups of specialists in medicine, agriculture or business could get visas, but tourists cannot. The Chinese government is cautious. They want to open their doors very little and very slowly. They're extremely proud of what they've accomplished, and they want to be certain that foreign guests understand them, rather than merely looking at their land and people with curiosity. Right now they're developing an army of professors who can answer questions and explain how the Chinese think, and why they do things - in other words, assuring that the contact between their people and tourists is good."

Devlin is a tall, blonde, 29-year-old woman, recently returned from China, where she managed to negotiate an historic agreement for her employer: The Carras line's ship, DANAE, will be the first cruise ship from the Western world permitted to dock at a Chinese port since 1949.

This means that next February, at least 300 tourists will be able to see China for three days with no complications. (Unless the cruise prices of $5,700 to $18,000 for the full 88-day package poses a complication.)

As director of shore activities for the Greek line, statuesque Miss Devlin said the coup was easily accomplished. "We wrote to the People's Republic of China International Travel Service (the official incoming tourist agency, known as Luxingshe), saying that our cruises are culture-oriented, with lecturers aboard who educate travelers in detail about each port to be visited. Within a few days we received a wire: 'WE AGREE TO MEETING. SEND TWO REPRESENTATIVES TO PEKING.' I was flying even before I got on the plane!"

The negotiations were days full of new sights and sensations. There were 16-course ceremonial meals that were delicious to the point of ecstatic - featuring curries, fruits, broiled and barbecued fish and meats - "and I didn't feel hungry an hour, or even a day, later." She wandered freely around the cities without an escort, and visited a private home in a communal farm near Canton. "It had a transistor radio, and a TV set in the commune's recreation hall."

She wore skirts during her stay, "but all the Chinese women wore pants, whether they were working or dining in a restaurant or strolling the streets with a sweetheart during the evening. Yes, they have open romance there, just as we do."

Devlin saw surgery with acupuncture anaesthesia, and stayed at the best hotels in the two cities, Peking and Kwangchow, where they offered to serve her steak and French fries if she tired of Chinese food. (She never did.) There is no tipping in China, and if anyone leaves money on a table, it is immediately sent to Lost and Found. "And I was amazed that you can't throw anything away in the hotels. I bought a beautiful handmade lace tablecloth and after packing it, crumpled the paper bag and left it. I came back to the room to find it carefully smoothed out for me on the bureau. I left a newspaper in the lobby, and they brought it to me in my room; I never could get rid of it - had to carry a week-old newspaper from Peking to Kwangchow because they keep returning it to me."

She was taken to the Great Wall and the Ming Tombs, shown the famous giant pandas, dined and wine with the native drink - a clear aquavit-like version of white lightning called Montai. "Everywhere I went with government representatives, they were saying in a marvelous oriental accent, 'Bottoms Up.' And I would drink down the little glasses of Montai. I heard in Peking that the word had preceded me there that 'The blonde will drink you under the table.' It seems when they toast you in China, you don't have to drink - but nobody had told me that."

The most valuable possession in China is the basic black bicycle, and everybody seems to have one, creating whirling traffic jams in the city streets.

And, as the cruisers on the DANAE will discover next February, there are advantages to visiting China - free medical service, free cigarettes and beer and free hair-styling in the hotels - as well as unique shopping. "You buy beautiful lace, porcelain, ivory and jade - all very cheap. But the antiques business is a little dicey; the Chinese have learned how to carve ivory, put it through an acid bath, and bury it for a few days so that it comes out looking beautifully cracked and extremely old."

The government agency asked Ruthanne to return with her ship, and she can hardly wait. "I got by with only two words in Chinese," she says. "They're pronounced 'nee-how' - that's hello. And 'tsee-tsee-eh' - which is thank you."

"They wanted to teach me to say 'goodbye,' but I refused to learn it."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

BOSTON (AP) — Worried - that something has gone wrong, politicians from the Northeast are forming pressure groups to recapture the economic leadership that once was their region's unquestioned right.

Since last summer, congressmen, governors and state legislators have linked together in coalitions they hope will accumulate enough political power to slow the slide of their beleaguered region.

So far, the groups exist mostly on paper. And even the organizers question whether their members can look beyond their immediate interests to work for the health of the entire Northeast.

But even if these groups fail by themselves to find solutions for the Northeast, their supporters say they will at least start people talking about the region as a place with special needs and problems of its own.

"It's now a matter of consciousness-raising," says Rep. Michael Harrington, D-Mass. "These groups focus attention on the inequities."

The unfairness described by Harrington and others centers on the federal government. Washington has failed, they say, to shift its economic help to the region that now needs it most - the Northeast.

The Sunbelt states - the Southeast and Southwest - are throbbing with new industry, and yet the northeastern congressmen maintain these states get a disproportionate share of federal money.

They cite studies showing that residents of the six New England states plus New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania get back only 85 cents for every dollar they pay to the federal government in taxes. At the same time, residents of the South get back $1.14, while New Mexico citizens receive $1.93.

Yet the Northeast lags far behind the Sunbelt in the growth of its population and manufacturing.

Harrington has been one of the Northeast's chief advocates. The liberal congressman has stirred up attention and helped organize the beginning of a response to the region's economic dilemma.

His most ambitious undertaking has been uniting about 200 congressmen in the Northeast-Midwest Economic Advancement Coalition.

So far, the coalition has provided a chance for congressmen to talk about the economic woes of the Northeast. Members are holding a series of hearings in New York, Boston and Detroit. But even Harrington, who is chairman of the coalition, doubts how much impact it can have beyond this.

The limitations are built into the way congressmen work. Ordinarily, they are considered to be doing well if they attract contracts, grants and other government money to their own districts.

Harrington says it will be difficult to convince these politicians they also should worry about favors for distant states that happen to be in the same geographic region.

"This flies in the face of traditional standards of congressional success," Harrington says.

Russell Moats of Circleville became Pickaway County's first victim of the hunting season. Moats was hunting on opening day when his shotgun exploded. A fragment of the muzzle caused the injury when it struck him above the eye. Moats told Dr. Ned Griner that he had attempted to fire the shotgun that had been loaded with a shell that was too heavy a gauge for the weapon.

Kingston was granted a charter to form an American Legion Post in that village.

Ohio's donation to the National Thanksgiving observance at Plymouth, Mass., came from Circleville's Pumpkin Show Society. Mack Parrett, secretary of the Pickaway County Agriculture Society, said a prize pumpkin grown by William Duvall had been sent, on request from Governor Bricker, to the national celebration.

Women, who accounted for 33 per cent of the national labor force in 1960, formed 40.7 per cent of the working population in 1976, says the U.S. Dept. of Labor.

LAFF - A - DAY

"Remember the good old days when we had nothing to fear but fear itself?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I've been told that I have a hydrocele of one testicle. I'm worried about the fact that this may affect me after I'm married and that this will keep me from having children. I'm 20.

Mr. A. M., Ga.

Dear Mr. M.:

In the rest of your letter you tell me that your doctor assured you that this collection of fluid around the testicle would not endanger the testicle itself.

The fluid secretion is contained in a thin-walled sac that surrounds the testicle. This fluid does not put any pressure on the testicle. When taken care of early, it can do no damage to it.

In simple cases, the fluid is withdrawn painlessly through a syringe. In those cases that tend to recur, a small incision is made, the fluid is liberated and the sac is surgically left open.

It may be of interest to you to know that some children are born with a hydrocele. These, too, are not dangerous and almost always disappear completely.

When I was a child, boric acid was used extensively for the eyes. Boric acid was a household remedy and kept in our medicine cabinet. I notice that it has disappeared from the household scene. Why?

Mrs. F. J., Ill.

Dear Mrs. J.:

For years, boric acid was used as mild antiseptic, as an eyewash, as a disinfectant, and as a gargle.

Recently, a number of fatalities among infants and children were traced to the boric acid that was absorbed from the diapers that were rinsed in it.

Since the toxic effect of boric acid became known it has been strictly forbidden in hospitals for newborn infants and children.

There are so many excellent antiseptics available that there is no longer any need for using boric acid as a common household antiseptic.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... After a hip fracture, a cane carried by the elderly in bad weather is far better than a crutch.

Retiring NAACP Chief Wilkins Saluted

DENVER (AP) — The growing ranks of black public officials saluted civil rights leader Roy Wilkins in a thunderous ceremony marked by a promise of urban aid from Jimmy Carter and Wilkins' quiet appraisal of the president-elect: "He means good."

Wilkins, who steps down next year as director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, received the Liberty Award on Sunday from the National Black Caucus of Local Elected Officials. He was lauded by black urban leaders, as well as Carter and by Wilkins' successor at the NAACP, Benjamin Hooks.

"The cutting edge of the civil rights movement today is politics," said caucus president Maynard Jackson, mayor of Atlanta.

In 1969, the first year that figures were compiled, 1,185 blacks held elected office at all levels of government. In 1976, the number is 3,979. Of these, 143 are mayors, many attending the National League of Cities annual meeting under way here this week.

Still, as Hooks pointed out, the struggle for equality that marked Wilkins' career at the NAACP remains to be won.

Though blacks are 11 per cent of the nation's population, black elected officials comprise less than one per cent of all elected public officials.

"Tonight we face the challenge of limited success. Tonight in America there is too little for too many," said Hooks. "Let us not get so concerned with our Brooks Brothers suits and IBM briefcases that we forget there are people out there who need our help."

Carter told the caucus he is "deeply concerned" about urban America, and he pledged to implement a "broad and comprehensive urban policy" to aid the nation's troubled cities.

Speaking by telephone from Plains, Ga., Carter offered no specific proposals in his address. But he said blacks would be "direct beneficiaries of our concern and our action," promising, "I will not be remote from your own objectives and goals."

Carter said the cities have been victimized by federal economic policies, and vowed that a change "must take place."

Wilkins said he is often asked what black people can expect from the Carter administration, and he said, "The answer is simple: We expect him to keep his promises to give leadership and substance to the principles of equality and justice."

Wilkins concluded, "Personally I am persuaded that he means good."

The $100-a-plate fundraiser drew a full house of about 600, including several possible Cabinet appointees — Mayors Kenneth Gibson of Newark, N.J., Coleman Young of Detroit, Thomas Bradley of Los Angeles and Richard Hatcher of Gary, Ind.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

On Nov. 7th, 111 Hikers showed up for a 5 mile CROP Walk against Hunger.

At that time a little over $1,700 was pledged. On the following Sunday, about half of the walkers turned in their money, for a total just under $1,500.

During the following week several more turned in more money, with some coming in as late as the last part of this past week.

There are several that have not turned in their CROP Walk monies, but as of Monday, Nov. 29th, $2,003.54 had been turned in.

Pastor Nansel of the Church of the Brethren (CROP Chair for the Pickaway County Ministerial Association) says that he is still taking any monies that are still in need of being turned in.

Either call him at 474-7933 giving him your address, and he will come by and pick-up your money; or bring it to the Brethren Parsonage at 1115 S. Pickaway, Circleville.

He wishes once more to say "THANK YOU" to all that helped to make this Year's CROP Walk meaningful.

A special thanks to Marvin Widmar, who helped make the street crossings safer; and to the Pickaway County REACT, for their help; to Circleville Bible College for the Safety Patrol, with Cheryl Jones as the Chair; to the following Fellowships who helped with the rest stops and refreshments - Pontius UM, Good Shepherd UM, Calvary UM, and the Church of the Brethren.

Thank you to each Hiker, and to each person who were faithful to come through with their pledge.

We look forward to next year's CROP Walk which shall most likely be held again on the first Sunday in November, which shall be Nov. 6th, 1977.

Kwangchow (Canton) and Peking are the "in" places to travel. But they have been "out" for the average citizen.

"If you wanted to visit China, you've always had to have a specific 'reason.' And your 'reason' had to be something that could help China with its problems," says Ruthanne Devlin. "Groups of specialists in medicine, agriculture or business could get visas, but tourists cannot. The Chinese government is cautious. They want to open their doors very little and very slowly. They're extremely proud of what they've accomplished, and they want to be certain that foreign guests understand them, rather than merely looking at their land and people with curiosity. Right now they're developing an army of professors who can answer questions and explain how the Chinese think, and why they do things - in other words, assuring that the contact between their people and tourists is good."

Devlin is a tall, blonde, 29-year-old woman, recently returned from China, where she managed to negotiate an historic agreement for her employer: The Carras line's ship, DANAE, will be the first cruise ship from the Western world permitted to dock at a Chinese port since 1949.

This means that next February, at least 300 tourists will be able to see China for three days with no complications. (Unless the cruise prices of $5,700 to $18,000 for the full 88-day package poses a complication.)

As director of shore activities for the Greek line, statuesque Miss Devlin said the coup was easily accomplished. "We wrote to the People's Republic's China International Travel Service (the official incoming tourist agency, known as Luxingshe), saying that our cruises are culture-oriented, with lecturers aboard who educate travelers in detail about each port to be visited. Within a few days we received a wire: 'WE AGREE TO MEETING. SEND TWO REPRESENTATIVES TO PEKING.' I was flying even before I got on the plane!"

The negotiations were days full of new sights and sensations. There were 16-course ceremonial meals that were delicious to the point of ecstatic - featuring curries, fruits, broiled and barbecued fish and meats - "and I didn't feel hungry an hour, or even a day, later." She wandered freely around the cities without an escort, and visited a private home in a communal farm near Canton. "It had a transistor radio, and a TV set in the commune's recreation hall."

She wore skirts during her stay, "but all the Chinese women wore pants, whether they were working or dining in a restaurant or strolling the streets with a sweetheart during the evening. Yes, they have open romance there, just as we do."

Devlin saw surgery with acupuncture anaesthesia, and stayed at the best hotels in the two cities, Peking and Kwangchow, where they offered to serve her steak and French fries if she tired of Chinese food. (She never did.) There is no tipping in China, and if anyone leaves money on a table, it is immediately sent to Lost and Found. "And I was amazed that you can't throw anything away in the hotels. I bought a beautiful handmade lace tablecloth and after packing it, crumpled the paper bag and left it. I came back to the room to find it carefully smoothed out for me on the bureau. I left a newspaper in the lobby, and they brought it to me in my room; I never could get rid of it - had to carry a week-old newspaper from Peking to Kwangchow because they keep returning it to me."

She was taken to the Great Wall and the Ming Tombs, shown the famous giant pandas, dined and wine with the native drink - a clear aquavit-like version of white lightning called Montai. "Everywhere I went with government representatives, they were saying in a marvelous oriental accent, 'Bottoms Up.' And I would drink down the little glasses of Montai. I heard in Peking that the word had preceded me there that 'The blonde will drink you under the table.' It seems when they toast you in China, you don't have to drink - but nobody had told me that."

The most valuable possession in China is the basic black bicycle, and everybody seems to have one, creating whirling traffic jams in the city streets.

And, as the cruisers on the DANAE will discover next February, there are advantages to visiting China - free medical service, free cigarettes and beer and free hair-styling in the hotels - as well as unique shopping. "You buy beautiful lace, porcelain, ivory and jade - all very cheap. But the antiques business is a little dicey; the Chinese have learned how to carve ivory, put it through an acid bath, and bury it for a few days so that it comes out looking beautifully cracked and extremely old."

The government agency asked Ruthanne to return with her ship, and she can hardly wait. "I got by with only two words in Chinese," she says. "They're pronounced 'nee-how' - that's hello. And 'tsee-tsee-eh' - which is thank you."

"They wanted to teach me to say 'goodbye,' but I refused to learn it."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

BOSTON (AP) — Worried - that something has gone wrong, politicians from the Northeast are forming pressure groups to recapture the economic leadership that once was their region's unquestioned right.

Since last summer, congressmen, governors and state legislators have linked together in coalitions they hope will accumulate enough political power to slow the slide of their beleaguered region.

So far, the groups exist mostly on paper. And even the organizers question whether their members can look beyond their immediate interests to work for the health of the entire Northeast.

But even if these groups fail by themselves to find solutions for the Northeast, their supporters say they will at least start people talking about the region as a place with special needs and problems of its own.

"It's now a matter of consciousness-raising," says Rep. Michael Harrington, D-Mass. "These groups focus attention on the inequities."

The unfairness described by Harrington and others centers on the federal government. Washington has failed, they say, to shift its economic help to the region that now needs it most - the Northeast.

The Sunbelt states - the Southeast and Southwest - are throbbing with new industry, and yet the northeastern congressmen maintain these states get a disproportionate share of federal money.

They cite studies showing that residents of the six New England states plus New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania get back only 85 cents for every dollar they pay to the federal government in taxes. At the same time, residents of the South get back $1.14, while New Mexico citizens receive $1.93.

Yet the Northeast lags far behind the Sunbelt in the growth of its population and manufacturing.

Harrington has been one of the Northeast's chief advocates. The liberal congressman has stirred up attention and helped organize the beginning of a response to the region's economic dilemma.

His most ambitious undertaking has been uniting about 200 congressmen in the Northeast-Midwest Economic Advancement Coalition.

So far, the coalition has provided a chance for congressmen to talk about the economic woes of the Northeast. Members are holding a series of hearings in New York, Boston and Detroit. But even Harrington, who is chairman of the coalition, doubts how much impact it can have beyond this.

The limitations are built into the way congressmen work. Ordinarily, they are considered to be doing well if they attract contracts, grants and other government money to their own districts.

Harrington says it will be difficult to convince these politicians they also should worry about favors for distant states that happen to be in the same geographic region.

"This flies in the face of traditional standards of congressional success," Harrington says.

Court Sets Tapes Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to hear arguments in former President Richard M. Nixon's bid for control of White House tape recordings and other records of his administration.

The justices agreed to review a decision of a three-judge federal court in Washington upholding the Presidential Materials and Recordings Preservation Act passed by Congress in 1974.

The act gives the General Services Administration control over an estimated 42 million pages of documents, including about 200,000 prepared or reviewed by Nixon, and 888 five-inch reels of tape.

The material is available to Nixon and to officers of the executive branch of government, subject to GSA regulations. Nixon contends that GSA control of the material violates his rights to privacy.

The act calls for the GSA to prepare regulations to govern public access to the material and submit them to Congress for approval. The first set of proposed regulations was rejected by the Senate last year, a second set was withdrawn by the GSA and a third was vetoed by the House on Sept. 14.

Russell Moats of Circleville became Pickaway County's first victim of the hunting season. Moats was hunting on opening day when his shotgun exploded. A fragment of the muzzle caused the injury when it struck him above the eye. Moats told Dr. Ned Griner that he had attempted to fire the shotgun that had been loaded with a shell that was too heavy a gauge for the weapon.

Kingston was granted a charter to form an American Legion Post in that village.

Ohio's donation to the National Thanksgiving observance at Plymouth, Mass., came from Circleville's Pumpkin Show Society. Mack Parrett, secretary of the Pickaway County Agriculture Society, said a prize pumpkin grown by William Duvall had been sent, on request from Governor Bricker, to the national celebration.

Women, who accounted for 33 per cent of the national labor force in 1960, formed 40.7 per cent of the working population in 1976, says the U.S. Dept. of Labor.

LAFF - A - DAY

"Remember the good old days when we had nothing to fear but fear itself?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I've been told that I have a hydrocele of one testicle. I'm worried about the fact that this may affect me after I'm married and that this will keep me from having children. I'm 20.

Mr. A. M., Ga.

Dear Mr. M.:

In the rest of your letter you tell me that your doctor assured you that this collection of fluid around the testicle would not endanger the testicle itself.

The fluid secretion is contained in a thin-walled sac that surrounds the testicle. This fluid does not put any pressure on the testicle. When taken care of early, it can do no damage to it. In simple cases, the fluid is withdrawn painlessly through a syringe. In those cases that tend to recur, a small incision is made, the fluid is liberated and the sac is surgically left open.

It may be of interest to you to know that some children are born with a hydrocele. These, too, are not dangerous and almost always disappear completely.

When I was a child, boric acid was used extensively for the eyes. Boric acid was a household remedy and kept in our medicine cabinet. I notice that it has disappeared from the household scene. Why?

Mrs. F. J., Ill.

Dear Mrs. J.:

For years, boric acid was used as mild antiseptic, as an eyewash, as a disinfectant, and as a gargle.

Recently, a number of fatalities among infants and children were traced to the boric acid that was absorbed from the diapers that were rinsed in it.

Since the toxic effect of boric acid became known it has been strictly forbidden in hospitals for newborn infants and children.

There are so many excellent antiseptics available that there is no longer any need for using boric acid as a common household antiseptic.

Retiring NAACP Chief Wilkins Saluted

DENVER (AP) — The growing ranks of black public officials saluted civil rights leader Roy Wilkins in a thunderous ceremony marked by a promise of urban aid from Jimmy Carter and Wilkins' quiet appraisal of the president-elect: "He means good."

Wilkins, who steps down next year as director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, received the Liberty Award on Sunday from the National Black Caucus of Local Elected Officials. He was lauded by black urban leaders, as well as Carter and by Wilkins' successor at the NAACP, Benjamin Hooks.

"The cutting edge of the civil rights movement today is politics," said caucus president Maynard Jackson, mayor of Atlanta.

In 1969, the first year that figures were compiled, 1,185 blacks held elected office at all levels of government. In 1976, the number is 3,979. Of these, 143 are mayors, many attending the National League of Cities annual meeting under way here this week.

Still, as Hooks pointed out, the struggle for equality that marked Wilkins' career at the NAACP remains to be won.

Though blacks are 11 per cent of the nation's population, black elected officials comprise less than one per cent of all elected public officials.

"Tonight we face the challenge of limited success. Tonight in America there is too little for too many," said Hooks. "Let us not get so concerned with our Brooks Brothers suits and IBM briefcases that we forget there are people out there who need our help."

Carter told the caucus he is "deeply concerned" about urban America, and he pledged to implement a "broad and comprehensive urban policy" to aid the nation's troubled cities.

Speaking by telephone from Plains, Ga., Carter offered no specific proposals in his address. But he said blacks would be "direct beneficiaries of our concern and our action," promising, "I will not be remote from your own objectives and goals."

Carter said the cities have been victimized by federal economic policies, and vowed that a change "must take place."

Wilkins said he is often asked what black people can expect from the Carter administration, and he said, "The answer is simple: We expect him to keep his promises to give leadership and substance to the principles of equality and justice."

Wilkins concluded, "Personally I am persuaded that he means good." The $100-a-plate fundraiser drew a

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

On Nov. 7th, 111 Hikers showed up for a 5 mile CROP Walk against Hunger.

At that time a little over $1,700 was pledged. On the following Sunday, about half of the walkers turned in their money, for a total just under $1,500.

During the following week several more turned in more money, with some coming in as late as the last part of this past week.

There are several that have not turned in their CROP Walk monies, but as of Monday, Nov. 29th, $2,003.54 had been turned in.

Pastor Nansel of the Church of the Brethren (CROP Chair for the Pickaway County Ministerial Association) says that he is still taking any monies that are still in need of being turned in.

Either call him at 474-7933 giving him your address, and he will come by and pick-up your money; or bring it to the Brethren Parsonage at 1115 S. Pickaway, Circleville.

He wishes once more to say "THANK YOU" to all that helped to make this Year's CROP Walk meaningful.

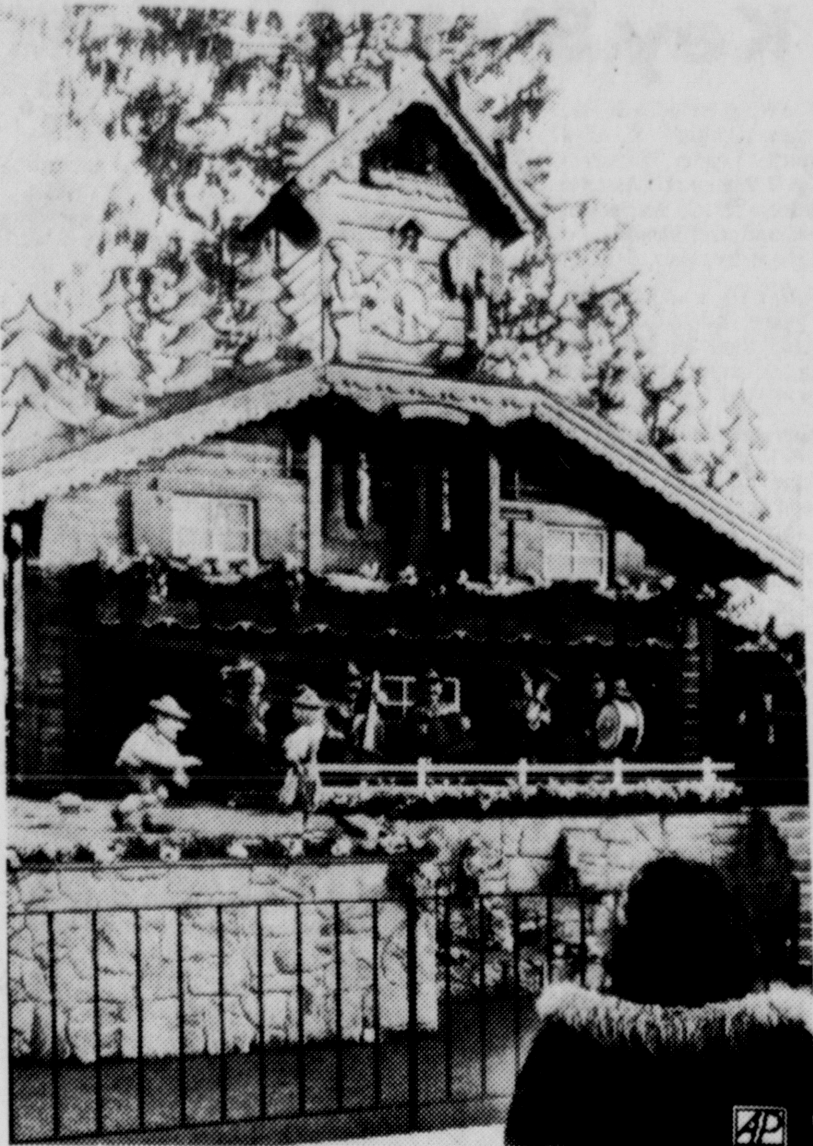

A special thanks to Marvin Widmar, who helped make the street crossings safer; and to the Pickaway County REACT, for their help; to Circleville Bible College for the Safety Patrol, with Cheryl Jones as the Chair; to the following Fellowships who helped with the rest stops and refreshments - Pontius UM, Good Shepherd UM, Calvary UM, and the Church of the Brethren.

Thank you to each Hiker, and to each person who were faithful to come through with their pledge.

We look forward to next year's CROP Walk which shall most likely be held again on the first Sunday in November, which shall be Nov. 6th, 1977.

BIGGEST CUCKOO CLOCK — Alice and Hans Grossniklaus of Wilmot, Ohio, say this cuckoo clock at their cheesemaking center is the world's largest. The clock, 23½ feet tall and 24 feet wide, was built at a cost of $50,000 over a five year period. Its five-piece band and two dancers were hand carved in Germany's Black Forest. It also keeps good time.

Males Still Earning More Than Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average man working fulltime in 1974 earned about $5,000 more than the average woman, the Labor Department says.

Furthermore, the gap between male and female incomes has increased drastically in the past two decades, the department reported Sunday.

In 1955, men were earning about 56.4 per cent more than women. By 1974, the gap had widened to 74.8 per cent. In 1974, the median earnings of women were $6,772, compared with $11,835 for men — a difference of $5,063, or nearly $100 a week.

The report, based on Census Bureau data, blamed two primary factors for the widening gap: a continued concentration of women in low-skilled, lowpaying jobs, and a sharp rise in the

Tax-On-Tax Repeal Eyed In Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Repeal of Indiana's gasoline tax-on-tax and a doubling of the inheritance tax exemption headed a list of 25 Senate bills filed Monday for consideration by the 1977 General Assembly.

Another bill would amend current law and require township trustees to demand work from able-bodied recipients of poor relief payments.

The tax-on-tax repeal, sponsored by Sen. Woodrow Wilson, D-Monroeville, would do away with the practice of adding Indiana's 4 per sales tax to the total gasoline pump price, including the 12-cent state and federal excise tax.

number of women entering the work force at beginners' level jobs.

Labor Department analysts said that even considering those factors and the shorter average lifetime work experience of women, "much of the male-female differential remains unexplained" and discrimination may be involved.

The report said that in constant dollars, taking inflation into account, the gap between the earnings of men and women rose from $1,911 in 1955 to $3,433 in 1974.

Although women comprised 31.8 per cent of the fulltime, year-round work force, they make up only 5.3 per cent of workers earning $15,000 or more in 1974.

More than 80 per cent of the regularly employed women earned less than $10,000, while only 38 per cent of men working regularly make under $10,000, the report said.

Women accounted for 63 per cent of workers earning between $3,000 and $4,999 in 1974, and for 58 per cent of those earning $5,000 to $6,999.

The report also found that a once wide gap between the earnings of white and black women is narrowing. Black women working fulltime in 1974 averaged 94 per cent as much pay as white women; in 1960, black women averaged only 70 per cent as much.

The average black man working fulltime earned $9,082 in 1974, or 73.4 per cent of the average white man's fulltime earnings of $12,343.

The report said women of all races are "clearly overrepresented among those workers whose earnings are low."

Barnacles Fought Instead Of Battles

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — The sailors at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard fight barnacles, not battles.

About 30 ships are in storage at facilities here. The latest addition is the aircraft carrier Oriskany, decommissioned Sept. 30 at Alameda Naval Air Station in California and towed north up the Pacific Coast to the Puget shipyard.

She joins other illustrious retirees. The battleship Missouri — the "Mighty Mo" — on whose decks the Japanese surrendered in 1945, is here, as well as the New Jersey, the last active US battleship.

Also anchored with only memories of captain, crew and cannons are the carriers Hornet, the successor to the ship that launched Jimmy Doolittle's Tokyo raid, Bennington and Bon Homme Richard.

The Navy says the equipment aboard the ships is in good enough repair so that they could be recalled to duty if needed. Most of them were built from 1943 to 1945.

Preparing the Oriskany to sit instead of sail is a job of many months, begun by the crew in Alameda after the ship returned from the Far East into forced retirement.

Her sailors removed topside equipment, wired shut stateroom drawers, disconnected power-driven equipment, chipped out warped linoleum and bathed surfaces in the Navy standby — corrosionfighting red paint.

In preparation for her tow, Oriskany's 30,000-pound anchor and two tons of chains were removed and donated to the City of Oakland, Calif., which put them on special exhibit in Jack London Square.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Notice is hereby given in compliance with Section 515.17 Revised Code, that the tax returns of Pickaway County, for the year 1976, have been revised and the valuations completed and are open for public inspection at the office of the County Auditor in the Court House, Circleville, Ohio.

Complaints against any valuation or assessment, except the valuations fixed and assessments made by the tax commissioner of Ohio, will be heard by the County Board of Revision at its office in the Court House, Circleville, Ohio, on or after December 8, 1976.

Complaints must be made in writing on blanks furnished by the County Auditor and filed in her office on or before the time limited for payment of taxes for the first half year, or at any time during which taxes are received by the County Treasurer without penalty for the first half year.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Joyce left her car at the corner garage to have a sticking gas pedal fixed. The following morning, she picked up the car and started driving home. But within minutes the pedal stuck again, forcing her to veer into a parked truck.

Shaken and bruised, Joyce filed a damage suit against the owner of the garage. At the trial, a mechanic took the stand to deny blame.

"I checked my work on that pedal," he said, "and it seemed to be working okay."

"Some checking!" countered Joyce. "He tried it out while the car was standing still with the motor off. That's just not good enough."

The court agreed with her and awarded damages. Something as critical as a gas pedal, said the court, calls for more care than this mechanic displayed.

One who works on your car has a legal responsibility at least partly similar to that of the manufacturer. Even without a specific guarantee, he promises by implication that his work will be free of negligence.

This may spell liability even if the problem does not show up at once. Another motorist's brakes gave way two weeks and 1200 miles after being overhauled. When he sued, the garage said this amount of intervening usage "insulated" it from liability.

But the court ruled in favor of the motorist. The court said the evidence pointed to a slow leak in the brake system, which was directly traceable to poor workmanship.

Without such a cause-and-effect relationship, however, there is no liability. In another case a man complained that his motor "froze" only a week after a lubrication and change of oil.

But he could not establish any causal connection between the motor problem and the work done. Blaming the garage in such circumstances, said the court, would be sheer guesswork.

chunks of other mothballed ships "on loan" to cities, towns and states around the country, said Robinson.

The rest of Oriskany's anchor chains were coated in special grease to reduce friction and then secured in case the main tow line should break.

A broad white arrow was even painted from her boarding station to flight deck to guide tow crews should they need to board her during the journey.

At Bremerton, the Navy is sand-blasting the hull, welding metal plates over various openings, repainting the bottom with preservative, pumping and cleaning fuel tanks and installing dehumidifiers.

After a ship remains in mothballs 15 or 20 years, with regular inspections, the Navy takes another look. Small ships such as landing craft are allowed to be converted to other uses. But large warships must by law be dismantled, Robinson said.

Swinging Single A Grandpa Groupie

DEAR ABBY: I know a 52-year-old divorcee who hangs around with senior citizens, pretending to be their age. She plays up to all the men (especially the rich ones) in hopes of snagging herself a husband. Isn't this unfair competition to the women who are 65 and older who are also in the market for husbands?

She doesn't tell her age, but goes to all these senior citizens affairs and just eats up the compliments when people tell her how "young" she looks.

I and a lot of women here in St. Petersburg, Fla., would appreciate your comment.

Riffe To Be Key State Leader

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With a firm grip on his troops in the House, Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr. will become one of Ohio's key decision makers when the next legislature convenes Jan. 3.

He will share the leadership role in a new veto-proof General Assembly with his counterpart-Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron.

Democrats will control the House 62-37, and with Ocasek's 21-12 margin in the Senate, the legislature will be able to enact laws and adopt the 1977-1979 budget over the objections of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Riffe, 50, a dapper-dressed, bespectacled insurance man from New Boston in Scioto County, is likely to keep a tight rein over the lower chamber during the next two years, possibly propelling himself into contention for the governorship in 1978. He scorns such talk, for the record, anyway. "My job is to be speaker," he says.

Riffe will be starting his 19th year in the legislature, he is a "down home" politician from southern Ohio, like Rhodes in that and other ways. He never graduated from college, he learned his politics at the grass roots level, and doesn't mind twisting arms in a party caucus. Also like Rhodes, Riffe demands and receives loyalty.

All he had to do to retain his same leadership team from the last two years was to say he wanted the members re-elected. They were, without challenge, at a November caucus.

FAMILY SUPPER

Cheese ham fondue, tossed salad, fresh peas, beverage.

Cheese Ham Fondue

3 cups cubed (1/2 inch) partly stale Italian bread, crusts on
1 1/4 cups cubed (1/4 inch) cooked lean ham

1/2 pound sharp cheddar cheese, cubed (1/2 inch)

2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 cups milk
4 large eggs
Tabasco sauce to taste

In a 2-quart buttered round glass casserole (8 1/4 by 2 1/4 inches) layer 1/2 the bread, ham and cheese; layer the remaining bread, ham and cheese. In a small bowl stir together the flour and mustard; gradually stir in the milk, keeping smooth. In a medium bowl beat eggs slightly; add milk and tabasco and beat to blend; pour over ingredients in casserole. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until browned and a knife inserted in center comes out clean — 45 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand 5 minutes before serving. Makes 6 servings.

forestall a tax increase for at least the next two years.

Otherwise, the speaker said he thinks there are certain areas of state services which could be cut. He said he wants to look at the recommendations of the governor, who was elected in 1974 on a promise of no new or increased taxes but is charged by law to submit a balanced budget to the legislature in January.

The team includes Speaker Pro Tem Barney Quilter, 57, D-47 Toledo; Majority Leader William L. Mallory, 45, D-23 Cincinnati; Assistant Majority Leader Patrick A. Sweeney, 37, D-6 Cleveland, and Thomas J. Carney, 42, the majority whip, D-71 Youngstown.

Riffe's team has a combined total of 36 years' legislative experience. All started their House careers in 1967 with the exception of Carney who first was elected in 1970.

The speaker already has served notice that Democrats are going to be looking once again at bills Rhodes vetoed over the past two years. Most notable among them are bills establishing collective bargaining procedures for public employees and protecting homeowners from unscrupulous contractors, along with consumer and other measures.

Democrats also are expected to draw new congressional districts for the 1978 elections, hopeful of cutting further into the 13-10 edge Republicans now hold in Ohio's delegation to the U.S. House.

Otherwise, Riffe promises a "good legislative program", and insists even in the face of mounting state money problems that it will be possible to

News Of Interest To Women

FAMILY TO CELEBRATE — Mr. and Mrs. Willis Orville Dountz, Orient, will be assisted by their family in celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary 2-4 p.m., Dec. 5th, with an open house at Commercial Point United Methodist Church. The couple has requested no gifts.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Swinging Single A Grandpa Groupie

DEAR ABBY: I know a 52-year-old divorcee who hangs around with senior citizens, pretending to be their age. She plays up to all the men (especially the rich ones) in hopes of snagging herself a husband. Isn't this unfair competition to the women who are 65 and older who are also in the market for husbands?

She doesn't tell her age, but goes to all these senior citizens affairs and just eats up the compliments when people tell her how "young" she looks.

I and a lot of women here in St. Petersburg, Fla., would appreciate your comment.

SIXTY-SIX AND LOOKS IT
DEAR SIXTY-SIX: Sorry, but age has never entered the ground rules in the mating game. All is fair in love and war, From St. Petersburg to St. Peter!

DEAR ABBY: My husband is hung up on self-hypnosis and reaching the subconscious mind through sleep suggestion. He is now determined to play a tape to our 12-year-old son (only child) every night for an hour, shortly after he has fallen asleep.

My husband has cut that tape, using his voice, transcribing informational and soothing words of encouragement. He believes that it will help our son develop his intellectual capacities.

I think that while there is much to be said about sleep suggestion, it may be the answer for some people, a child's God-given sleep should be undisturbed.

Our son is a very good student, and I don't believe my husband should assail the boy's mind night and day.

What are your thoughts?

NAMELESS, PLEASE
DEAR NAMELESS: If the boy is emotionally secure, a good student and active in sports, I'm for leaving his subconscious mind alone. It's not the taped suggestions per se that can harm the boy, but rather your husband's determination to impose his influence on his son night and day.

DEAR ABBY: ON THE SPOT wrote in to say she works with women who ask her where she bought her dress, shoes, etc., and then how much they cost. I have the perfect answer. When people I know ask me a similar question, I tell them it was either the Salvation Army or Goodwill, but I'm not sure which.

They usually chuckle and ask me again, but the answer is always the same. Finally they realize that I am not going to tell them, and they quit asking me.

Meanwhile I chuckle to myself because when I was young, most of my clothes did come from the Goodwill Resale Shop, and people were always complimenting me on my wardrobe.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

$436,000 Missing At Springfield

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson called today for efforts to recover more than $436,000 missing from funds of the Citizens Opportunity Program.

Man Offers Payment For Job

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A 45-year-old father of three here wants a job so badly, he's willing to pay $5,000 to get one.

Joseph Ranta has 20 years experience in the paper industry, and lost his product manager's job with the Mead Corp. here about three months ago when it was phased out during a department reorganization.

Like most job hunters, Ranta has been answering advertisements in newspapers and dealing with employment agencies in his search for employment.

But Ranta has gone a couple of steps further. He has offered $500 to $5,000 to anyone who gets him a legitimate and acceptable job offer.

He even sent cables to both presidential candidates offering contributions of $500 for their campaigns if they could get him a bona fide offer, but neither candidate replied.

He said there's been just one response to the newspaper advertisements, terming it "pretty disappointing."

"I have been working with four or five agencies, I've written to 35 or 40 paper companies, I've answered Wall Street Journal ads, in total maybe contacted between 2,000 and 2,500 people in the past three months," all without luck, Ranta said.

Right now, he says he is negotiating with a mailing service to have his job request letters prepared and sent in bulk lots.

"I had 4½ years at Mead, and they were very enjoyable. At the end, Mead gave me a month's severance pay and 60 days notice to find another job," Ranta said. "The problem is that at my age level and income level, you can't make the change in 60 days."

His age and education—a BA in forest product engineering and a masters in business administration—make him different from most of the unemployed in Montgomery County.

Rare Ailment Claims Boy

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Shaun J. Entry, a 2½-year-old who spent his first 20 months hospitalized for a rare breathing ailment, died Sunday in a local hospital.

He had been living with his parents and 4-year-old brother at his home since April. Doctors were uncertain what caused his death.

He was suffering from Ondine's Disease, a failure of automatic breathing. Shaun had been aided by special respiratory equipment when his brain forgot to breathe automatically since birth. Medication proved unsuccessful in treating the ailment and Shaun was too small to use an iron lung.

Since birth, his father estimates medical bills have been $300,000 with insurance and state funding helping to pay some costs.

zens Opportunity Program-Neighborhood Youth Corps at Springfield.

The so-called "finding for recovery" went to the Clark County prosecutor for whatever legal action is required. It named John T. Donnellon as project director; Sam Singletary, program director, and Ellsworth L. Brown, and their bonding company, Maryland Casualty Co.

Ferguson's document also singled out the Clark County Board of Commissioners as a "prime sponsor" of the federal program since late 1974, along with its bonding company, and said the board "is hereby enjoined jointly and severally for such deficit . . . arising after the board of commissioners became prime sponsor."

The auditor's report, which covered the period from Sept. 10, 1971, to Sept. 30, 1975, was laced with implications of criminal activity but it omitted details as to the investigation because criminal actions already are pending, an auditor's aide explained.

An auditor's report is not in itself a criminal finding.

Funds not accounted for in the audit included $176,228 which supposedly went to pay certain federal taxes, and loans from federal agencies totaling nearly $100,000. There also were numerous unauthorized expenditures.

Included were copies of numerous checks made out to Brown and signed by Singletary, then endorsed and apparently cashed by Brown between the period from October 4, 1973 to August 1, 1975. The checks ranged from a low of $217.50 on Dec. 12, 1973 to a high of $414.00 on Aug. 1, 1975.

Ferguson said many records of the operation were incomplete, including ledgers that covered only 10 per cent of the audit period. He said only 80 per cent of the voucher checks were available for the audit, and that about 50 per cent of deposit slips were missing.

The report said income received from Clark County contracts was listed at $66,728 between November 1973 to Sept. 19, 1975, but that the money was not accounted for.

Winter Tires Available

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Whether winter tires prove to be in short supply around the nation depends on what tire you need and when you buy it, rubber industry spokesmen say, indicating the problem isn't as great as had been foreseen.

You may have to settle for a black-wall instead of a whitewall, for instance, or you may have to go to two stores to find the size you need.

It's likely you will find it difficult to buy radial winter tires at the same time stores you check offer sales on nonradials.

Also you probably can find retread winter tires readily enough, unless you want a radial-recap, which are in short supply.

In any case, the industry expects new winter tire sales to be lower than its earlier forecast of what already was to be well below the 1972 peak of 19.2 million tires.

And, the increasing popularity of radials again is part of the reason. Behind all the scenarios is the lengthy strike by the United Rubber Workers that halted virtually all tire production by the Big Four — Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich Co., and Uniroyal, Inc.

Official Vote Canvass Certified

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official results of all of Ohio's statewide balloting Nov. 2 now have been certified by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

He finished the job Monday, signing official charts for contests for U.S. Senate and the Ohio Supreme Court, along with results on seven amendments proposed for the State Constitution.

Brown certified the presidential race a week ago, enabling the start of a recount of that tight contest, won by Jimmy Carter by 9,333 votes. The recount began Monday.

In the final canvass, Democratic U.S. Senate challenger Howard Metzenbaum of Cleveland was shown the winner over incumbent Sen. Robert Taft Jr. 1,941,113 to 1,823,774, or a margin of 117,339.

For State Supreme Court, A. William Sweeney of Cincinnati defeated Don P. Brown of Cleveland 1,662,903 to 1,342,187; while Ralph Locher of Cleveland beat William Morrissey of Cincinnati, 1,459,632 to 1,432,364, for a second Supreme Court seat which was at stake in the balloting.

Also certified were the results of voting on seven proposed amendments to the Ohio Constitution, none of which changed substantially.

Issue 1 (gubernatorial succession) carried 2,388,184 to 1,048,967; Issue 2 (obsolete constitutional language), 2,284,178 to 1,129,165; Issue 3 (declaration of election) 2,297,422 to 1,103,822; Issue 4 (lifeline utility rates), defeated, 2,334,826 against to 1,247,388 in favor; Issue 5 (utility consumer advocate), defeated 2,557,265 to 1,092,781; Issue 6 (nuclear power), defeated 2,462,000 to 1,150,360, and Issue 7 (initiative and referendum) defeated 2,407,960 to 1,175,410.

Heirs Of Singer Sue For Money

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Heirs of blues singer Bessie Smith have sued CBS, Inc., and Columbia Records, Inc., for allegedly depriving her of money from her recordings because she was black.

The suit in U.S. District Court here was filed by Jack Gee Jr. of Philadelphia, identified as the singer's son, and the estate of Miss Smith's late husband, John Gee Sr. It charged that Columbia Records exploited singers who recorded for its black record series.

The suit contended that the defendants' predecessor companies never paid Miss Smith, who died in 1937, more than $200 for any of her songs recorded between 1923 and 1933.

According to the suit, Columbia said in a recent annual report that reissues of Miss Smith's records were the largest selling reissues in record industry history, with gross sales of more than $6 million.

State Industry Efforts Faulty?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Efforts by the state to attract new industry and hold on to what it is already in Ohio have often been ineffective, the Ohio Development Advisory Council was told Monday.

But, the state's development director says his department is aware of some of the problems and already is working on them.

Ohio's development program was the subject of two reports during the Monday council meeting, neither of which was flattering to the state's efforts.

Ralph Widner, president of the Academy for Contemporary Problems, cited a number of factors which work against industrial development in midwestern states, some peculiar to Ohio.

"A well-conceived promotional program could alter the weak image of the state as a good place in which to live and work," Widner said in a draft of a study report he reviewed for the council.

Widner said Ohio is among the lowest of the industrial states in tax burden on industry. He suggested formation of a blue ribbon commission "to take a careful look at taxes."

And, a summary of a second report compiled by the Fantus Co., an industrial locating firm in New York City, contended Ohio's industrial development does not rate highly when compared to other states.

The summary, presented by James P. Walsh of the Huntington National Bank of Columbus, added that in most studies of tax situations Ohio does not fare well and that the state "does not give the impression it is anxious to attract new industry."

Director James Duerk of the Department of Economic and Community Development agreed with some of the criticism, but added that some changes are being made in his department to meet the problems.

Duerk acknowledged Ohio is slow in responding to inquiries from industries which ask about the state.

"Ohio historically has depended on an Ohio sales team," he said. "We have no single contact operation like some other states, such as Tennessee and Alabama...We are taking steps to improve the contact system."

Another problem he cited is standardized information on Ohio communities which industries may ask for.

"These data sheets are prepared locally and they are not standardized," he said. "We are trying to develop a standard data profile on every community in Ohio."

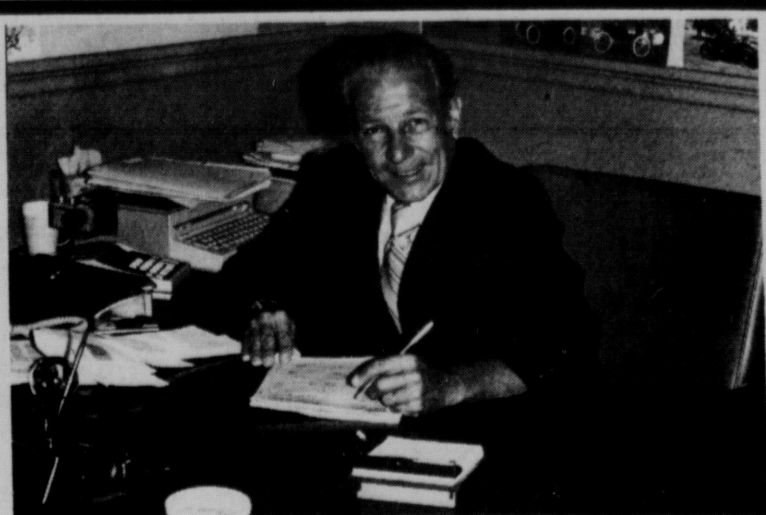

Another change Duerk cited is reorientation of the state's sales team from industrial to geographic familiarity.

"We concluded that it is more important to know an area of the state than to know their business," he said. "They already know their business. We are in the process of assigning the seven-state sales representatives on this basis."

In the area of keeping old business, Duerk said his department is adding four staffers whose job will be to keep in contact with industry and try for early identification of any problems where the state can offer aid.

He also cited a continuing effort to improve Ohio's tax incentive program, and "we will continue to try to get the cooperation of the legislature on this."

$436,000 Missing At Springfield

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson called today for efforts to recover more than $436,000 missing from funds of the Citizens Opportunity Program-Neighborhood Youth Corps at Springfield.

Man Offers Payment For Job

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A 45-year-old father of three here wants a job so badly, he's willing to pay $5,000 to get one.

Joseph Ranta has 20 years experience in the paper industry, and lost his product manager's job with the Mead Corp. here about three months ago when it was phased out during a department reorganization.

Like most job hunters, Ranta has been answering advertisements in newspapers and dealing with employment agencies in his search for employment.

But Ranta has gone a couple of steps further. He has offered $500 to $5,000 to anyone who gets him a legitimate and acceptable job offer.

He even sent cables to both presidential candidates offering contributions of $500 for their campaigns if they could get him a bona fide offer, but neither candidate replied.

He said there's been just one response to the newspaper advertisements, terming it "pretty disappointing."

"I have been working with four or five agencies, I've written to 35 or 40 paper companies, I've answered Wall Street Journal ads, in total maybe contacted between 2,000 and 2,500 people in the past three months," all without luck, Ranta said.

Right now, he says he is negotiating with a mailing service to have his job request letters prepared and sent in bulk lots.

"I had 4½ years at Mead, and they were very enjoyable. At the end, Mead gave me a month's severance pay and 60 days notice to find another job," Ranta said. "The problem is that at my age level and income level, you can't make the change in 60 days."

His age and education—a BA in forest product engineering and a masters in business administration—make him different from most of the unemployed in Montgomery County.

Rare Ailment Claims Boy

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Shaun J. Entry, a 2½-year-old who spent his first 20 months hospitalized for a rare breathing ailment, died Sunday in a local hospital.

He had been living with his parents and 4-year-old brother at his home since April. Doctors were uncertain what caused his death.

He was suffering from Ondine's Disease, a failure of automatic breathing. Shaun had been aided by special respiratory equipment when his brain forgot to breathe automatically since birth. Medication proved unsuccessful in treating the ailment and Shaun was too small to use an iron lung.

Since birth, his father estimates medical bills have been $300,000 with insurance and state funding helping to pay some costs.

zens Opportunity Program-Neighborhood Youth Corps at Springfield.

The so-called "finding for recovery" went to the Clark County prosecutor for whatever legal action is required. It named John T. Donnellon as project director; Sam Singletary, program director, and Ellsworth L. Brown, and their bonding company, Maryland Casualty Co.

Ferguson's document also singled out the Clark County Board of Commissioners as a "prime sponsor" of the federal program since late 1974, along with its bonding company, and said the board "is hereby enjoined jointly and severally for such deficit . . . arising after the board of commissioners became prime sponsor."

The auditor's report, which covered the period from Sept. 10, 1971, to Sept. 30, 1975, was laced with implications of criminal activity but it omitted details as to the investigation because criminal actions already are pending, an auditor's aide explained.

An auditor's report is not in itself a criminal finding.

Funds not accounted for in the audit included $176,228 which supposedly went to pay certain federal taxes, and loans from federal agencies totaling nearly $100,000. There also were numerous unauthorized expenditures.

Included were copies of numerous checks made out to Brown and signed by Singletary, then endorsed and apparently cashed by Brown between the period from October 4, 1973 to August 1, 1975. The checks ranged from a low of $217.50 on Dec. 12, 1973 to a high of $414.00 on Aug. 1, 1975.

Ferguson said many records of the operation were incomplete, including ledgers that covered only 10 per cent of the audit period. He said only 80 per cent of the voucher checks were available for the audit, and that about 50 per cent of deposit slips were missing.

The report said income received from Clark County contracts was listed at $66,728 between November 1973 to Sept. 19, 1975, but that the money was not accounted for.

Winter Tires Available

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Whether winter tires prove to be in short supply around the nation depends on what tire you need and when you buy it, rubber industry spokesmen say, indicating the problem isn't as great as had been foreseen.

You may have to settle for a black-wall instead of a whitewall, for instance, or you may have to go to two stores to find the size you need.

It's likely you will find it difficult to buy radial winter tires at the same time stores you check offer sales on nonradials.

Also you probably can find retread winter tires readily enough, unless you want a radial-recap, which are in short supply.

In any case, the industry expects new winter tire sales to be lower than its earlier forecast of what already was to be well below the 1972 peak of 19.2 million tires.

And, the increasing popularity of radials again is part of the reason. Behind all the scenarios is the lengthy strike by the United Rubber Workers that halted virtually all tire production by the Big Four — Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich Co., and Uniroyal, Inc.

Official Vote Canvass Certified

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official results of all of Ohio's statewide balloting Nov. 2 now have been certified by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

He finished the job Monday, signing official charts for contests for U.S. Senate and the Ohio Supreme Court, along with results on seven amendments proposed for the State Constitution.

Brown certified the presidential race a week ago, enabling the start of a recount of that tight contest, won by Jimmy Carter by 9,333 votes. The recount began Monday.

In the final canvass, Democratic U.S. Senate challenger Howard Metzenbaum of Cleveland was shown the winner over incumbent Sen. Robert Taft Jr. 1,941,113 to 1,823,774, or a margin of 117,339.

For State Supreme Court, A. William Sweeney of Cincinnati defeated Don P. Brown of Cleveland 1,662,903 to 1,342,187; while Ralph Locher of Cleveland beat William Morrissey of Cincinnati, 1,459,632 to 1,432,364, for a second Supreme Court seat which was at stake in the balloting.

Also certified were the results of voting on seven proposed amendments to the Ohio Constitution, none of which changed substantially.

Issue 1 (gubernatorial succession) carried 2,388,184 to 1,048,967; Issue 2 (obsolete constitutional language), 2,284,178 to 1,129,165; Issue 3 (declaration of election) 2,297,422 to 1,103,822; Issue 4 (lifetime utility rates), defeated, 2,334,826 against to 1,247,388 in favor; Issue 5 (utility consumer advocate), defeated 2,557,265 to 1,092,781; Issue 6 (nuclear power), defeated 2,462,000 to 1,150,360, and Issue 7 (initiative and referendum) defeated 2,407,960 to 1,175,410.

Heirs Of Singer Sue For Money

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Heirs of blues singer Bessie Smith have sued CBS, Inc., and Columbia Records, Inc., for allegedly depriving her of money from her recordings because she was black.

The suit in U.S. District Court here was filed by Jack Gee Jr. of Philadelphia, identified as the singer's son, and the estate of Miss Smith's late husband, John Gee Sr. It charged that Columbia Records exploited singers who recorded for its black record series.

The suit contended that the defendants' predecessor companies never paid Miss Smith, who died in 1937, more than $200 for any of her songs recorded between 1923 and 1933.

According to the suit, Columbia said in a recent annual report that reissues of Miss Smith's records were the largest selling reissues in record industry history, with gross sales of more than $6 million.

State Industry Efforts Faulty?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Efforts by the state to attract new industry and hold on to what it is already in Ohio have often been ineffective, the Ohio Development Advisory Council was told Monday.

But, the state's development director says his department is aware of some of the problems and already is working on them.

Ohio's development program was the subject of two reports during the Monday council meeting, neither of which was flattering to the state's efforts.

Ralph Widner, president of the Academy for Contemporary Problems, cited a number of factors which work against industrial development in midwestern states, some peculiar to Ohio.

"A well-conceived promotional program could alter the weak image of the state as a good place in which to live and work," Widner said in a draft of a study report he reviewed for the council.

Widner said Ohio is among the lowest of the industrial states in tax burden on industry. He suggested formation of a blue ribbon commission "to take a careful look at taxes."

And, a summary of a second report compiled by the Fantus Co., an industrial locating firm in New York City, contended Ohio's industrial development does not rate highly when compared to other states.

The summary, presented by James P. Walsh of the Huntington National Bank of Columbus, added that in most studies of tax situations Ohio does not fare well and that the state "does not give the impression it is anxious to attract new industry."

Director James Duerk of the Department of Economic and Community Development agreed with some of the criticism, but added that some changes are being made in his department to meet the problems.

Duerk acknowledged Ohio is slow in responding to inquiries from industries which ask about the state.

"Ohio historically has depended on an Ohio sales team," he said. "We have no single contact operation like some other states, such as Tennessee and Alabama...We are taking steps to improve the contact system."

Another problem he cited is standardized information on Ohio communities which industries may ask for.

"These data sheets are prepared locally and they are not standardized," he said. "We are trying to develop a standard data profile on every community in Ohio."

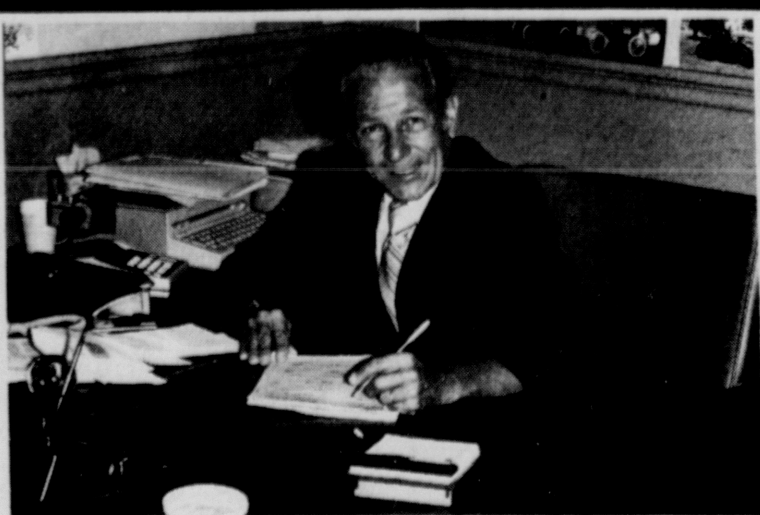

Another change Duerk cited is reorientation of the state's sales team from industrial to geographic familiarity.

"We concluded that it is more important to know an area of the state than to know their business," he said. "They already know their business. We are in the process of assigning the seven-state sales representatives on this basis."

In the area of keeping old business, Duerk said his department is adding four staffers whose job will be to keep in contact with industry and try for early identification of any problems where the state can offer aid.

He also cited a continuing effort to improve Ohio's tax incentive program, and "we will continue to try to get the cooperation of the legislature on this."

Circleville Manor Offers Complete Services

THE WHIRLPOOL BATH is one part of physical therapy at the Circleville Manor. Leland T. Rayer is the licensed physical therapist that is on contract with the manor, and he offers therapy as prescribed by the patient's physician.

Circleville Manor offers the best in extended-patient care in the Circleville and Pickaway County area. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nelson and Mrs. Wanda Minks head up the staff at the Circleville Manor.

During its existence, manor residents have been provided highly skilled personnel in medical nursing, physical therapy dietetics, medical records and social services. And the staff at Circleville pledge to the community a future of continued excellent quality care from their institution.

Residents of Circleville Manor are offered many of the comforts of home. Among the outstanding services that are offered at Circleville Manor are the facility's kitchen and whirlpool bath, the dining room, and the beauty shop.

Eunice Boysel, Dixie Whitt, Susie Pritchard, and Ruth McCafferty prepare approximately 350 meals a day in the kitchen at the manor. If a patient at the manor has a certain dietary need or requirement, the kitchen staff is prepared to handle that need in cooperation with the patient's physician and a dietary consultant from Columbus.

The whirlpool facility at Circleville Manor is available to all residents of the manor for bathing or relaxing in the evening. It is used with the utmost safety too, because the user is lifted off the floor hydraulically, swung around, and lowered into the water, and all the while they are securely strapped into a chair designed specifically for the purpose.

Complete beauty and barber shop services can be obtained at the Circleville Manor also. Mrs. Margaret Koch, owner of Margaret's Beauty Shop, comes in and offers her skills to the residents of the manor, and a very small fee is charged to cover materials.

If a patient requires physical therapy, that too can be obtained at the Circleville Manor. Physical therapy is administered twice a week, to those assigned by their physicians in charge of the case for various medical reasons. Many of the conditions treated with physical therapy are basically fractures, arthritis, stroke, amputee, or other disorders. Special rehabilitation techniques are used to regain the range of joints, muscle re-education, and ambulation procedures. Follow-up is also done by the nursing personnel as time permits.

Attention is given to range-of-motion, bed positioning, and other methods, in order to prevent development of skin conditions and general debilitation of the patients. Physical therapy also serves to brighten the day for the individual through friendly greetings and follow-ups to personal needs.

The patient's interest is also stimulated through the other activities at the manor, and news of outside activities in the community fosters an awareness by the patient, with renewed activity on their part.

Leland T. Rayer, licensed physical therapist, is on contract with the manor, and he provides therapy coverage as prescribed by a physician, and is located on the Circleville- Tarlton Road, just east of U.S. Route The Circleville Manor has 101 beds, 23 South.

SANTAS' STUDIES — Twenty-eight members of the Sears, Roebuck Santa Claus school in Los Angeles hear a recitation of the

"no-nos" and "ho-hos" from their instructor. One of the subjects taught is "Why kids react the way they do."

Gilmore Says Panel 'Cowards'

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gary Mark Gilmore, calling members of the state pardons board "cowards" and daring them to execute him before a firing squad, says that if they refuse "they should let me go."

Gilmore was to appear before the board today for a review of his sentence for killing a motel clerk.

"I will ask them to simply accept the sentence given to me by the judge, jury and the Supreme Court, and I hope to make this clear to them," Gilmore, 35, told a Salt Lake Tribune reporter in an interview.

Earlier, Gilmore wrote the three board members a defiant letter laced with obscenities urging them to uphold his death sentence: "Let's do it, you cowards."

"I do not seek or desire your clemency ...," he said in the four-line letter made public Monday. "The sentence was set — I accept it."

The Tribune's interview, reported in a copyright article in today's editions, followed a restraining order issued by U.S. District Court Judge Willis W. Ritter against the Utah Board of Corrections, which had refused to allow reporters access to Gilmore. The board said it would appeal the ruling.

"You can't take someone's life or do some wrong and then start to snifle because you are punished," Gilmore told the Tribune's George A. Sorensen, the only reporter he agreed to see.

"If the board and the court do not wish to accept the sentence handed down, they should let me go," Gilmore was quoted as saying.

He said he still wants to marry his girl friend, Nicole Barrett, and, asked if he had a message for her, said, "Give her my deepest love. I love her more than life."

Shirley Pedler of the Utah affiliate of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) has said her group and others would seek a stay if Gilmore were given his wish to die. The ACLU, which opposes capital punishment, contends the execution should be delayed until the constitutionality of Utah's death penalty law is tested.

Robert Van Sciver, one of several lawyers representing other inmates on Utah's Death Row, has said appeals aimed at stopping the execution would be filed immediately if Gilmore gets a new date with the firing squad on grounds that the execution would prejudice other cases.

Gilmore was convicted of killing Bennie Bushnell, 25, during a robbery last July. Gilmore testified that he ordered Bushnell, who left an infant child and young widow, to lie on the floor and then put a pistol against the clerk's head and pulled the trigger.

Gilmore told the Tribune he felt the death penalty "is proper." He said he does not wish to spend another 18 years in prison and believes he is "being practical in accepting the sentence."

The last execution in the United States was on June 2, 1967, when Luis Jose Monge died in Colorado's gas chamber. More than 400 men and women await possible execution on Death Rows across the nation.

Small Claims Fees Going Up

In 1977, the fee for filing small claims in Circleville Municipal Court will be raised to $5.

Additional costs will be accessed on such items as judgement debtors and garnishments.

It presently costs $3 to file a small claim.

Weather, Crops Linked Worldwide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The affect of weather on crops worldwide will be more variable and require closer attention in the future than was necessary during the 1960s, an atmospheric scientist has informed the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

"The climate has been highly favorable to grain production since the start of the 1970s," Dr. James McQuigg of the University of Missouri, said Monday.

McQuigg, retired director of the Federal Center for Climatic and Environmental Assessment at Columbia, Mo., said early snow in the Soviet Union this winter hints at a better grain crop for that country in 1977.

He said this contrasts with 1975 when Russia's grain crop was 40 per cent below what it would have been with normal weather.

At the same time, he said, corn and soybean production in the United States was substantially below normal.

"I think we are in for a number of years of wide swings in weather," he added. "We need to stay on top of it. It is much more essential than in the past decade."

"We are not near the point yet of controlling weather in large areas to the extent of changing the global balance of grain production. But we are starting to make use of weather information so as to stay on top of production," he said.

Charge Dad In Deaths

UHRICHSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Murder charges have been filed against the father of three children whose bodies were discovered in their burning home on Saturday, Police Chief Frank Barker says.

Barker said Monday he acted after Tuscarawas County Coroner Dr. Philip Doughten ruled the three children were dead before the fire broke out.

The coroner said the deaths of 10-year-old Mona Baker and two brothers, Terry, 13, and Timothy, 14, resulted from multiple skull fractures.

Their father, Wilbur G. Baker, 44, was first believed to have been in the house when the fire started about 4:30 a.m. Saturday, firemen said. However, police said a search of the rubble failed to disclose a fourth body.

Uhrichsville police said Baker was last heard from about 10 p.m. Friday, when he spoke to his wife by telephone.

The children's stepmother was at the home of an older daughter in Uhrichsville at the time. Two other children also were staying with relatives.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gary Mark Gilmore, calling members of the state pardons board "cowards" and daring them to execute him before a firing squad, says that if they refuse "they should let me go."

Gilmore was to appear before the board today for a review of his sentence for killing a motel clerk.

"I will ask them to simply accept the

Earlier, Gilmore wrote the three board members a defiant letter laced with obscenities urging them to uphold his death sentence: "Let's do it, you cowards."

Commissioners Hear County Highway Workers Requests

Pickaway County Commissioners Don Strous and L. Robert Liston met with representatives of the county highway garage Monday to discuss wages, working conditions and union representation.

Westfall All-SVC Gridders

ERIC SCHLEICH

CARL STRITTMATTER

TONY SIMON

The Scioto Valley Conference has three representatives from Pickaway County for 1976. Selected to the All-Star grid squad from Westfall High School were Eric Schleich, Tony Simon, and Carl Strittmatter.

Schleich was a senior linebacker and end for John Glanton's Mustangs this season. The 6-1, 185 pounder could always be counted on for his blocking, pass-catching, and tackling abilities. He was also selected All-County by the Hall-Adkins Post of the American Legion.

Tony Simon is only a junior and returns for an encore appearance on Westfall's gridiron next season. Simon was the workhorse of the Mustang offense, and fans can expect to see more of the same next year.

Carl Strittmatter was a senior center and defensive tackle for the Mustangs this season. Strittmatter was a key cog in the Mustang's offensive blocking efforts, as he and his mates opened the holes for Simon and the other backs to make their way through.

Receiving honorable mention honors for the season from Westfall were Mike Weidinger, a defensive end; Rick Stillings, a quarterback; and John Roberts, an offensive end. These three men were all seniors this year. Denny Finch was the only underclassman to receive post-season honorable mention honors. He operated from an offensive guard position.

The All-Scioto Valley Conference team for 1976 is as follows:

From Piketon: Terry Gifford, tackle, senior; Mark Ramsey, end, senior; Dave Mossbarger, guard, senior; Herb Mossbarger, guard, senior; Tim Mowery, halfback, junior; and Greg Storms, fullback, junior.

From Adena: Jeff Cutlip, tackle, senior; Dave Peterson, tackle, senior; Ralph Chenoweth, guard, senior; Mary Putnam, linebacker, sophomore; and Tom Moody, kicker, junior.

From Zane Trace: Brian Kerns, halfback, senior; Don Mallow, linebacker, senior; and Don Clever, quarterback, senior.

From Unioto: Bob Matson, halfback, senior; Scott Dailey, quarterback, senior; and Steve Urig, split end, senior.

From Westfall: Tony Simon, tailback, junior; Eric Schleich, end, senior; and Carl Strittmatter, center, senior.

From Paint Valley: Andy Anderson, linebacker, senior; and Bill Schneider, guard, senior.

From Southeastern: Craig Gray, defensive back, senior.

From Huntington: Keith Mason, linebacker, senior.

The lineman of the year in the SVC was Jeff Cutlip from Adena. Cutlip was selected for his outstanding effort at defensive tackle. The back of the year for the SVC was Tim Mowery of Piketon, who was a halfback. Coach of the year was Morris Gullion, of Piketon.

Wittenberg Basketball Favorites

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Larry Hunter, Wittenberg's rookie coach, is squarely on the spot. His veteran Tigers are the choice of coaches and newsmen alike to win the Ohio Conference basketball honors this winter.

Still, the balding former Ohio University player sees it as a benefit. "With our tradition," he said after the OC basketball meetings Monday, "our young men looked to be picked No. 1. We're going to look at it as a plus. We like to be picked."

Hunter is traveling in fast company as Wittenberg's coach. His predecessors include Ray Mears, Eldon Miller and Bobby Hamilton, his old boss now at Navy.

Eight of 13 coaches voting picked Wittenberg to win the Southern Division and nine went for the Tigers to sweep the Ohio Conference tournament. Thirteen of 23 newsmen chose Wittenberg to win its division and 14 of the media selected the Tigers to replace Oberlin as OC tourney champion.

The coaches and newsmen couldn't agree in the Northern Division. The coaches like Wooster to replace Ohio Northern in that race with eight first-place votes. Thirteen of 23 newsmen sided with their anticipated champion, Kenyon.

Tiger Basketball For Young Cagers Opens Saturday

The Tiger "fun and fundamentals" basketball program for fifth and sixth grade boys will begin Saturday and continue for nine weeks through February 12.

Except for December 4 and December 18, the program will begin at 9 a.m. in both the senior and junior high gyms. The doors will be open by 8:45 a.m. The boys should be picked up between 10:45 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Students from Atwater and Nicholas Drive schools will play at the senior high (except on December 4 and 18). Students from High, Corwin, Mound, and South Court schools will play at the junior high.

Players should bring gym clothes, tennis shoes, and towels.

The sessions will be directed by Coaches Jim Bailey (senior high), Dennis Stewart (senior high), Jim Diltz (junior high), Ty Ankrom (junior high), and Ron Malone (junior high). Tiger basketball players (grades 9-12) will coach the teams. Seventh and eighth grade players will assist by officiating.

Because of wrestling tournaments at the high school on December 4th and 18th, all boys will report to the junior high on those days. Boys normally at the junior high will play from 8 a.m. to 9:25 a.m. Boys normally at the senior high will play from 9:25 a.m. to 10:50 a.m.

The schedule is as follows:
Dec. 4 — Fundamentals and registration
Dec. 11 — Fundamentals, choosing teams, and "Hoop shoot" contest
Dec. 18 — Fundamentals and games
Jan. 8 — Fundamentals and games
Jan. 15 — Fundamentals and games
Jan. 22 — Fundamentals and games
Jan. 29 — Warm up and games
Feb. 5 — Warm up, regular game and first tournament game
Feb. 12 — Tournament at Junior High

Zachry, Metzger Top NL Rookies

CINCINNATI (AP) — Reds pitcher Pat Zachry was gratified to be named co-Rookie of the Year in the National League but the tall, slim Texan was more concerned about the loss of his "best friend," a pet German Shepherd.

"I'd love to trade it to get my dog back," he drawled over the telephone from Houston, Tex., where he was recuperating from a hernia operation. Zachry was named with San Diego Padres pitcher Butch Metzger.

Zachry recalled he wasn't sure he would make the team that went on to win its second consecutive World Series. He was selected for the bullpen but was pressed into a starting role when Don Gullett suffered arm problems.

Zachry finished the season with a 14-7 record and an earned run average of 2.74, fifth best in the National League. He also defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers five times and won the third game of the World Series over the New York Yankees.

"What I will remember is Sparky Anderson taking me in the equipment room in Los Angeles during a game and chewing my butt out," said Zachry, looking back.

"And I'll always remember Larry Shepard (pitching coach) following me around and eying all over me. I just hope he keeps it up. I need people pushing me," he said.

The Rookie honor is the third among active players on the Reds roster. The others are Johnny Bench in 1968 and Pete Rose in 1963. Former Reds who won in recent years include Frank Robinson in 1956 and Tommy Helms, 1966.

Zachry said his dog, "Bronc," was stolen from his home in Waco, Tex. just before the World Series.

"It broke my heart. I offered a reward for him. People all over town were looking for him but no one found him. The people who stole him had to take him out of town. Everyone in Waco knew that dog of mine," Zachry said.

Bengals Determined To Score Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — In the Cincinnati Bengals' camp, there is disappointment, but they're determined to remain on top of the Central Division of the American Football Conference.

The disappointment comes from the Bengals' fifth straight loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers. A victory over the Steelers Sunday would have meant a lock on the division title.

Instead, a 7-3 defeat means the Bengals must win their final two games—including one with Oakland—in order to remain in the race for the division title.

"We still control our own destiny, but now we're just going to have to bite the bullet for two games," declared Ron Carpenter.

A little adversity may be good for the Bengals, added Ron Pritchard.

"The best position to be in is to be backed up completely to the wall," the linebacker said. "For anybody it is. Because a person even without very much courage with his back to the wall may do something extraordinary."

"We're a courageous team with our back up to the wall. There's no question we'll do something extraordinary."

Daniel Hunter Named To Cincy Reds Post

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have named Daniel Hunter, 25, director of group ticket sales replacing Jeff Odenwald who resigned to take a similar post with the expansion Seattle Mariners of the American League.

Hunter, a member of the ticket staff since 1974, is a University of Dayton graduate. He is also the son of Thomas Hunter, editor and general manager of the Wilmington (Ohio) News Journal.

Hearing Scheduled On Wildlife Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hearings will open on new Division of Wildlife regulations for sport and commercial fishing and use of riding animals on wildlife property, the Department of Natural Resources announced Monday.

The public hearing is set for 9 a.m. at DNR's Fountain Square offices here. If the proposed regulations are adopted and approved by the Ohio Wildlife Council, they will take effect next year.

The Big Ten basketball season closes Saturday, Feb. 19.

The American Bowling Congress says more than 4,504,000 men competed in ABC-sanctioned competition in the past fiscal year.

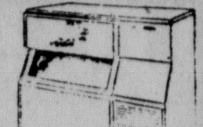

Ohio Hunters Down 3,831 1st-Day Deer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio hunters downed a record 3,831 deer on the opening day of the 1976 deer gun season, the Division of Wildlife reported.

The opening day totals Monday reflect a 23 per cent increase over 1975 first day figures of 2,980 deer.

"The continuing record deer harvest during the past eight years is evidence that our professionally designed deer management program is working," said Dale Haney, wildlife division chief. "Sound wildlife management has brought Ohio's deer herd to over 110,000 animals."

Still, the balding former Ohio University player sees it as a benefit. "With our tradition," he said after the OC basketball meetings Monday, "our young men looked to be picked No. 1. We're going to look at it as a plus. We like to be picked."

Hunter is traveling in fast company as Wittenberg's coach. His predecessors include Ray Mears, Eldon Miller and Bobby Hamilton, his old boss now at Navy.

Eight of 13 coaches voting picked Wittenberg to win the Southern Division and nine went for the Tigers to sweep the Ohio Conference tournament. Thirteen of 23 newsmen chose Wittenberg to win its division and 14 of the media selected the Tigers to replace Oberlin as OC tourney champion.

The coaches and newsmen couldn't agree in the Northern Division. The coaches like Wooster to replace Ohio Northern in that race with eight first-place votes. Thirteen of 23 newsmen sided with their anticipated champion, Kenyon.

Tiger Basketball For Young Cagers Opens Saturday

The Tiger "fun and fundamentals" basketball program for fifth and sixth grade boys will begin Saturday and continue for nine weeks through February 12.

Except for December 4 and December 18, the program will begin at 9 a.m. in both the senior and junior high gyms. The doors will be open by 8:45 a.m. The boys should be picked up between 10:45 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Students from Atwater and Nicholas Drive schools will play at the senior high (except on December 4 and 18).

Students from High, Corwin, Mound, and South Court schools will play at the junior high.

Players should bring gym clothes, tennis shoes, and towels.

The sessions will be directed by Coaches Jim Bailey (senior high), Dennis Stewart (senior high), Jim Diltz (junior high), Ty Ankrom (junior high), and Ron Malone (junior high). Tiger basketball players (grades 9-12) will coach the teams. Seventh and eighth grade players will assist by officiating.

Because of wrestling tournaments at the high school on December 4th and 18th, all boys will report to the junior high on those days. Boys normally at the junior high will play from 8 a.m. to 9:25 a.m. Boys normally at the senior high will play from 9:25 a.m. to 10:50 a.m.

The schedule is as follows:

Dec. 4 — Fundamentals and registration
Dec. 11 — Fundamentals, choosing teams, and "Hoop shoot" contest
Dec. 18 — Fundamentals and games
Jan. 8 — Fundamentals and games
Jan. 15 — Fundamentals and games
Jan. 22 — Fundamentals and games
Jan. 29 — Warm up and games
Feb. 5 — Warm up, regular game and first tournament game
Feb. 12 — Tournament at Junior High

Zachry, Metzger Top NL Rookies

CINCINNATI (AP) — Reds pitcher Pat Zachry was gratified to be named co-Rookie of the Year in the National League but the tall, slim Texan was more concerned about the loss of his "best friend," a pet German Shepherd. "I'd love to trade it to get my dog back," he drawled over the telephone from Houston, Tex., where he was recuperating from a hernia operation. Zachry was named with San Diego Padres pitcher Butch Metzger.

Zachry recalled he wasn't sure he would make the team that went on to win its second consecutive World Series. He was selected for the bullpen but was pressed into a starting role when Don Gullett suffered arm problems.

Zachry finished the season with a 14-7 record and an earned run average of 2.74, fifth best in the National League. He also defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers five times and won the third game of the World Series over the New York Yankees.

"What I will remember is Sparky Anderson taking me in the equipment room in Los Angeles during a game and chewing my butt out," said Zachry, looking back.

"And I'll always remember Larry Shepard (pitching coach) following me around and eying all over me. I just hope he keeps it up. I need people pushing me," he said.

The Rookie honor is the third among active players on the Reds roster. The others are Johnny Bench in 1968 and Pete Rose in 1963. Former Reds who won in recent years include Frank Robinson in 1956 and Tommy Helms, 1966.

Zachry said his dog, "Bronc," was stolen from his home in Waco, Tex. just before the World Series.

"It broke my heart. I offered a reward for him. People all over town were looking for him but no one found him. The people who stole him had to take him out of town. Everyone in Waco knew that dog of mine," Zachry said.

Bengals Determined To Score Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — In the Cincinnati Bengals' camp, there is disappointment, but they're determined to remain on top of the Central Division of the American Football Conference.

The disappointment comes from the Bengals' fifth straight loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers. A victory over the Steelers Sunday would have meant a lock on the division title.

Instead, a 7-3 defeat means the Bengals must win their final two games—including one with Oakland—in order to remain in the race for the division title.

"We still control our own destiny, but now we're just going to have to bite the bullet for two games," declared Ron Carpenter.

A little adversity may be good for the Bengals, added Ron Pritchard.

"The best position to be in is to be backed up completely to the wall," the linebacker said. "For anybody it is. Because a person even without very much courage with his back to the wall may do something extraordinary."

"We're a courageous team with our back up to the wall. There's no question we'll do something extraordinary."

Daniel Hunter Named To Cincy Reds Post

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have named Daniel Hunter, 25, director of group ticket sales replacing Jeff Odenwald who resigned to take a similar post with the expansion Seattle Mariners of the American League.

Hunter, a member of the ticket staff since 1974, is a University of Dayton graduate. He is also the son of Thomas Hunter, editor and general manager of the Wilmington (Ohio) News Journal.

Hearing Scheduled On Wildlife Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hearings will open on new Division of Wildlife regulations for sport and commercial fishing and use of riding animals on wildlife property, the Department of Natural Resources announced Monday.

The public hearing is set for 9 a.m. at DNR's Fountain Square offices here. If the proposed regulations are adopted and approved by the Ohio Wildlife Council, they will take effect next year.

The Big Ten basketball season closes Saturday, Feb. 19.

The American Bowling Congress says more than 4,504,000 men competed in ABC-sanctioned competition in the past fiscal year.

Ohio Hunters Down 3,831 1st-Day Deer

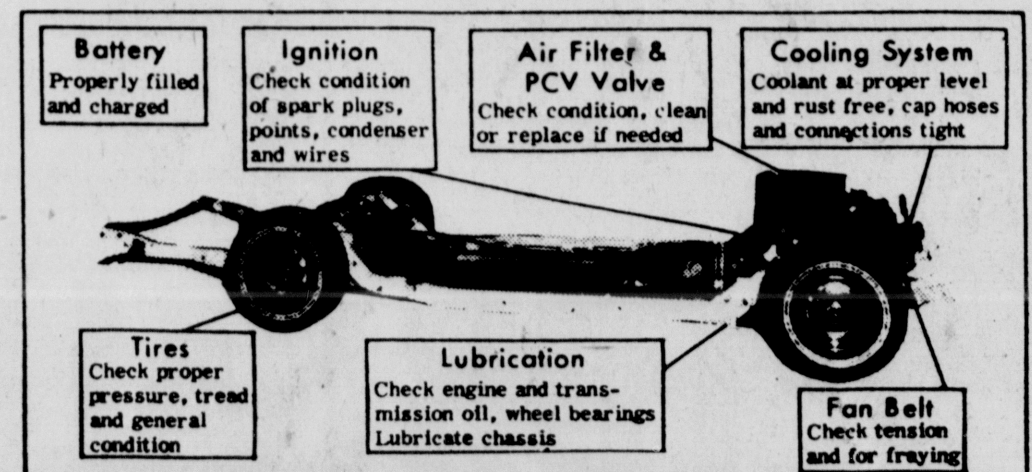

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio hunters downed a record 3,831 deer on the opening day of the 1976 deer gun season, the Division of Wildlife reported.

The opening day totals Monday reflect a 23 per cent increase over 1975 first day figures of 2,980 deer.

"The continuing record deer harvest during the past eight years is evidence that our professionally designed deer management program is working," said Dale Haney, wildlife division chief. "Sound wildlife management has brought Ohio's deer herd to over 110,000 animals."

The University of Pittsburgh finished the regular college football season as the No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll today, but the Panthers must get past fifth-ranked Georgia in the Sugar Bowl to nail down their first national championship in 39 years.

Pitt defeated arch-rival Penn State 24-7 and wound up with an 11-0 record. The Panthers celebrated their fourth consecutive week at the top of the ratings by polling 45 first-place votes and 1,128 of a possible 1,160 points from a nationwide panel of 58 sports writers and broadcasters.

The national championship will be released Jan. 4, following the post-season bowl games.

Behind Pitt, runner-up Michigan widened its lead over third-place Southern California while unbeaten Maryland slipped past Georgia into fourth place and Houston inched ahead of UCLA for the sixth spot.

Michigan, which finished its regular season a week ago, received eight first-place votes and 998 points while Southern Cal, a 17-13 winner over Notre Dame, earned three first-place ballots and 931 points. Last week's spread among Pitt, Michigan and Southern Cal with 62 voters participating was 1,172-1,050-1,046 in points and 39-13-7 in first-places. Michigan and Southern Cal will meet in the Rose Bowl.

Meanwhile, Maryland, which finished 11-0 a week ago, received the remaining two first-place votes and climbed from fifth to fourth with 749 points. The Terrapins nosed past Georgia, which slipped from fourth to fifth with 747 points after needing a last-minute field goal to turn back Georgia Tech 13-10.

MSU Drops Cage Clash To Central

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan State had just dropped its first college basketball game to Central Michigan since 1905 and the coach of the losing Spartans had praise for his conquerors.

"I was impressed with Central's rebounding in the second half," said first-year Coach Jud Heathcote after the 81-76 loss Monday night.

He added, "We didn't get the job done tonight. There's no way we can play like we did tonight for a decent season."

The Chippewas, who posted their first triumph over Michigan State in 22 games, were led by freshman Leon Guydon with 18 points and seven rebounds.

In other action Monday night involving Big Ten teams, Iowa clobbered Kent State 84-55 and Miami of Ohio edged Purdue 69-67. All three were nonconference games.

Michigan State took a 40-39 halftime lead in the debut of their new coach. But Central Michigan, playing on its home court in Mount Pleasant, Mich., went in front to stay midway through the second half.

The Spartans were led by captain Bob Champan with 24 points and sophomore Greg Kelsner with 18 points and nine rebounds.

Iowa gave an early indication of how its game in Iowa City would go when it scored the first eight points and breezed to a 66-35 lead with 11½ minutes left in the game with Kent State.

Michigan Leads Cage Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan, returning most of the team which finished second to Indiana in last season's national basketball championships, has grabbed an impressive lead in the first Associated Press college basketball poll of the regular 1976-77 season.

The Wolverines, 1-0, and rated No. 1 in the preseason poll, received 38 first-place votes in outdistancing runnerup Marquette, 896 points to 772.

In balloting Monday by 48 sports writers and broadcasters across the country, Marquette, which has yet to play this season, received three first-place votes.

UCLA, 2-0, edged Indiana, also 2-0, for third place, 613 points to 603, while Kentucky was fifth with 503.

Others in the Top Ten, in order and including records and point totals, were Nevada-Las Vegas, 1-0, 417; Louisville, 0-0; 401; Notre Dame, 1-0, 316; North Carolina, 1-1, 284, and San Francisco, 2-0, 279.

Besides Michigan and Marquette, other teams receiving first-place votes were Indiana and Louisville with two each, and Kentucky, San Francisco and Cincinnati with one each.

The Second Ten was led by Arizona, which needed an overtime to edge intrastate rival Arizona State. Cincinnati was 12th, followed, in order, by Alabama, Wake Forest, Tennessee, Maryland, Southern Illinois, DePaul, Rutgers and North Carolina-Charlotte.

The records include games through Sunday.

IHL Scoring Race Now Neck-And-Neck

DETROIT (AP) — Two pivotmen — Muskegon's Garth MacGuigan and Flint's Mike Clarke — are tied for first place in the International Hockey League scoring race with 32 points each.

MacGuigan, a rookie, has scored 18 goals and chalked up 14 assists. Clarke, who is in his second IHL campaign, has 12 goals and 20 assists.

In third place is Dave Johnson of Toledo, with 21 goals and 10 assists, while Kenny Mann of Kalamazoo and Terry McDougall of Fort Wayne share four place with 30 points each.

The Dec. 29-30 Gator Bowl basketball tournament in Jacksonville, Fla., has Michigan State from the Big 10 competing against Florida, Holy Cross and Jacksonville.

Houston clinched the host spot in the Cotton Bowl — the Cougars will meet Maryland — with a 42-20 rout of Rice and rose from seventh place to sixth with 526 points. Idle UCLA dropped from sixth to seventh with 510 points.

Oklahoma remained eighth after a 20-17 triumph over Nebraska and Texas Tech held onto ninth by crushing Arkansas 30-7, but Nebraska fell from 10th to 13th. Replacing the Cornhuskers in 10th place was streaking Texas A&M, a 27-3 winner over Texas.

The Second Ten consists of Ohio State, Colorado, Nebraska, Oklahoma State, Notre Dame, Alabama, Rutgers, Baylor and North Carolina, with Mississippi State and Penn State tied for 20th.

Last week's Second Ten was Texas A&M, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Colorado and Oklahoma State tied for 14th, Penn State, Rutgers and Alabama, with Mississippi State and North Carolina tied for 19th.

No team dropped out of the Top Twenty but Baylor moved in with a 24-19 victory over Texas Christian that raised its record to 7-2-1.

Yoshimura Jurors Hear Of Aliases

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Wendy Yoshimura used at least five aliases and armed herself with an arsenal of firearms during her 3½-year life on the run with some of America's most wanted fugitives, says the prosecutor in her weapons possession trial.

"Her conduct speaks louder than words ever could," Jeff Horner said in his opening statement Monday.

Defense lawyer James Larson, who concedes that the 33-year-old defendant fled prosecution and lived with fugitives in the terrorist underground, was to make his opening statement today.

Horner spent the entire day outlining the past six years of Miss Yoshimura's life, beginning on Aug. 3, 1971, when the state contends she rented a Berkeley garage to store weapons for radicals.

When police raided the garage on March 30, 1972, and found a cache of weapons and explosives, Miss Yoshimura dropped from sight. She was arrested in September 1975 with newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst.

Reading from prepared notes, Horner repeatedly linked Miss Yoshimura to the weapons and revolutionary literature found in the garage, to Symbionese Liberation Army members William and Emily Harris, and to "a life of multiple identities."

"Wendy Yoshimura was living two, three or four separate lives," Horner said. "She had a variety of false names."

He said she used phony identification

Major Farm Commodities Level Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices of major farm commodities may have leveled off during the past month after taking a 5 per cent nosedive between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, the sharpest one-month decline in nearly a year.

A new report showing how farm prices reacted from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, was being prepared today by the Agriculture Department. One source said no large-scale change, either up or down, was expected this month.

Prices farmers get for raw commodities, ranging from cattle to soybeans, often fluctuate widely from month to month. But over a longer period they are valuable indicators of how consumer food prices may evolve.

The 5 per cent decline in farm prices from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15 was the sharpest since they dropped 6 per cent from October to November a year ago, according to USDA records. It also was the third consecutive month that farm prices dropped.

A much larger cattle slaughter, a rise in pork output and huge grain crops — including a record corn harvest — have been mainly responsible for the price slide.

As of Oct. 15, according to the report issued a month ago, farm prices on the average were down 9 per cent from the same date last year.

Other reports published by USDA in recent weeks show that grain prices have continued to decline since mid-October. Wheat delivered to Kansas City, for example, averaged $2.54 a bushel as of Nov. 13 against an October full-month average of $2.77.

Corn prices at Omaha were about $2.05 a bushel earlier this month, compared with an October average of $2.36 a bushel. In Oct. 1975, wheat averaged $4.09 at Kansas City for the month and Omaha corn was $2.75 a bushel.

On the other hand, soybean prices in Chicago have been up, averaging around $6.42 a bushel going into the middle of the month, compared with $6.23 in October and the average in October of 1975 of $4.97 a bushel.

As opposed to wheat and corn, the soybean crop was down significantly this year, meaning a brisk domestic and foreign demand has caused higher prices.

The price report issued monthly by USDA involves weighting farm prices of various products according to their importance in the over-all price index.

Bulletin

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Dorsett, the University of Pittsburgh's brilliant running back who said he should have won the Heisman Trophy last year, finally won it today and gained recognition as the top college football player in the country.

Officials made the announcement before Dorsett's arrival. His plane had been delayed en route from Pittsburgh.

to purchase rifles and rent apartments. He said her fingerprints were found in SLA hideouts in Pennsylvania, Sacramento, Calif., and San Francisco.

When captured, she had a loaded pistol in her purse, a fully loaded sawed-off carbine in her bedroom and incriminating letters in her handwriting implicating herself with the SLA hidden under her mattress, Horner said.

Horner drew rapt attention from the jury when he mentioned the Harrises and Miss Hearst. He named as prospective witnesses for the state several persons who testified at Miss Hearst's bank robbery trial last spring.

Miss Yoshimura's lawyer, speaking outside of court, told reporters that events alluded to by Horner "have no bearing on the charges stemming from 1972. She fled, she did associate with fugitives. We admit that. The indictment against her does not refer to any of that. She is not accused of any of that."

Miss Yoshimura joined Miss Hearst and the Harrises in hiding during the summer of 1974, more than two years after she fled.

Miss Yoshimura, now free on $25,000 bail, is accused in a four-count indictment of possessing bomb components, explosives, a machine gun and a destructive device with intent to injure persons and destroy property.

If convicted, she could be imprisoned for five years to life.

Carter in the presidential election.

The vote for Carter in many cities was heavier than for Hubert Humphrey in 1968, according to party and Carter aides.

The results were surprising to some because of Carter's possible vulnerability with Catholic and blue-collar ethnic voters, both large urban constituencies, and because his rural Southern background is hardly the stuff city candidates are traditionally made of.

The Democratic Mayors Conference was created by party leaders after the 1972 presidential defeat of Sen. George McGovern as a way of mustering votes from traditional Democratic bastions that failed to turn out for the Democratic candidate. Carter aides say the group was instrumental to Carter's strong urban performance.

The Democratic mayors were to meet today following sessions of the annual meeting of the National League of Cities. Richard Hatcher, mayor of Gary, Ind., is expected to become the conference president. He was one of the original group of mayors who met with the intention of having maximum impact in the 1976 election.

"We may not have been responsible for his winning, but we did what we had to do," said Hatcher. "You can't exclude the mayors' efforts in a handful of key states."

Thomas Tatum, Carter's urban campaign director, says heavy city votes were critical to Carter's winning at least four strategic states — Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, New York and Louisiana.

Jane Hartley, executive director of the Democratic Mayors Conference, cited these statistics: Carter won Philadelphia by 250,000 votes and Pennsylvania by 128,000; Milwaukee by 70,000 and Wisconsin by 36,000; New York City by 650,000 and the state by 276,000; and Baltimore by 93,000 and Maryland by 87,000.

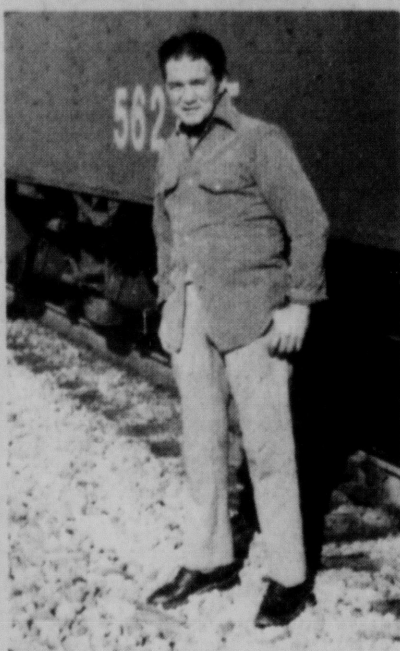

The bigger the city, the better Carter fared.

Ms. Hartley, who prefers the feminist designation, said election analyses show Carter won 63 per cent of the vote in cities of more than 500,000 population, 55 per cent in cities between 250,000 and 500,000, and 54 per cent in cities with 50,000 to 250,000.

All these big-city categories show Carter well ahead of Humphrey's effort, which was hindered by the third-party candidacy of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

Because Carter's victory over President Ford was narrow, there are many groups whose electoral clout was necessary for Carter to win. Besides the Southern bloc, Carter aides cite his lopsided plurality among black, labor, ethnic and Jewish voters as critical. All are predominantly urban groups.

Railroader Retires After 35 Years

ROBERT REESER

Robert Reeser, 20206 Bolender-Pontius Road, has retired after nearly 35 years of railroading.

Reeser was hired as brakeman on the Baltimore and Ohio in 1942, working from Cincinnati to Parkersburg, W. Va.

After two years with the B&O, he transferred to the Norfolk and Western working from Portsmouth to Columbus.

Reeser was promoted to conductor in 1952 and continued to work for the N&W until his retirement.

During his years with the railroad, he was involved in two major accidents, one of which was a 42-car pileup. He says the fear of hitting an automobile at an intersection and killing the occupants was always present.

The retired railroader recalls that he was a member of a train crew that worked on the campaign special that carried Vice President Nixon from Portsmouth to Columbus in 1955.

Reeser plans to spend retirement in close association with his family to make up for all those weeks spent of necessity away from home.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deep, winter weather gripped Ohio today following a very cold night. Early morning temperatures ranged from zero to 10 above across the state.

One low temperature record tumbled Monday night when Akron-Canton reported 3 degrees, which broke the record for the Nov. 29 of 4 degrees set in 1887. Cleveland registered 4 above at 5:30 a.m. which tied the previous record set in 1929, and Youngstown reported 1 above which tied its record set in 1958.

Snow ended over most areas of the state early Monday but the northeast snow belt continued to have snow. Amounts in Ashtabula County ranged up to 11 inches and there were four to eight inches on parts of Geauga County and the higher elevations of Lake County.

Only light snow amounts, if any, were expected for the northeast today and skies were to be mostly sunny over much of the state. Temperatures will continue quite cold with highs in the teens and low 20s. Lows tonight will be 10 to 15 degrees under clear skies. A fast moving low pressure area from Alberta, Canada will be moving across the area Wednesday and there is a chance of light snow and temperatures in the 20s.

Demo Mayors Claim Cities Elected Carter

DENVER (AP) — Political power means votes, and Democratic mayors meeting here this week say the big cities flexed crucial muscle with a surprisingly strong turnout for Jimmy

Carter in the presidential election.

The vote for Carter in many cities was heavier than for Hubert Humphrey in 1968, according to party and Carter aides.

The results were surprising to some because of Carter's possible vulnerability with Catholic and blue-collar ethnic voters, both large urban constituencies, and because his rural Southern background is hardly the stuff city candidates are traditionally made of.

The Democratic Mayors Conference was created by party leaders after the 1972 presidential defeat of Sen. George McGovern as a way of mustering votes from traditional Democratic bastions that failed to turn out for the Democratic candidate. Carter aides say the group was instrumental to Carter's strong urban performance.

The Democratic mayors were to meet today following sessions of the annual meeting of the National League of Cities. Richard Hatcher, mayor of Gary, Ind., is expected to become the conference president. He was one of the original group of mayors who met with the intention of having maximum impact in the 1976 election.

"We may not have been responsible for his winning, but we did what we had to do," said Hatcher. "You can't exclude the mayors' efforts in a handful of key states."

Thomas Tatum, Carter's urban campaign director, says heavy city votes were critical to Carter's winning at least four strategic states — Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, New York and Louisiana.

Jane Hartley, executive director of the Democratic Mayors Conference, cited these statistics: Carter won Philadelphia by 250,000 votes and Pennsylvania by 128,000; Milwaukee by 70,000 and Wisconsin by 36,000; New York City by 650,000 and the state by 276,000; and Baltimore by 93,000 and Maryland by 87,000.

The bigger the city, the better Carter fared.

Ms. Hartley, who prefers the feminist designation, said election analyses show Carter won 63 per cent of the vote in cities of more than 500,000 population, 55 per cent in cities between 250,000 and 500,000, and 54 per cent in cities with 50,000 to 250,000.

All these big-city categories show Carter well ahead of Humphrey's effort, which was hindered by the third-party candidacy of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

Because Carter's victory over President Ford was narrow, there are many groups whose electoral clout was necessary for Carter to win. Besides the Southern bloc, Carter aides cite his lopsided plurality among black, labor, ethnic and Jewish voters as critical. All are predominantly urban groups.

Major Farm Commodities Level Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices of major farm commodities may have leveled off during the past month after taking a 5 per cent nosedive between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, the sharpest one-month decline in nearly a year.

A new report showing how farm prices reacted from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, was being prepared today by the Agriculture Department. One source said no large-scale change, either up or down, was expected this month.

Prices farmers get for raw commodities, ranging from cattle to soybeans, often fluctuate widely from month to month. But over a longer period they are valuable indicators of how consumer food prices may evolve.

The 5 per cent decline in farm prices from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15 was the sharpest since they dropped 6 per cent from October to November a year ago, according to USDA records. It also was the third consecutive month that farm prices dropped.

A much larger cattle slaughter, a rise in pork output and huge grain crops — including a record corn harvest — have been mainly responsible for the price slide.

As of Oct. 15, according to the report issued a month ago, farm prices on the average were down 9 per cent from the same date last year.

Other reports published by USDA in recent weeks show that grain prices have continued to decline since mid-October. Wheat delivered to Kansas City, for example, averaged $2.54 a bushel as of Nov. 13 against an October full-month average of $2.77.

Corn prices at Omaha were about $2.05 a bushel earlier this month, compared with an October average of $2.36 a bushel. In Oct. 1975, wheat averaged $4.09 at Kansas City for the month and Omaha corn was $2.75 a bushel.

On the other hand, soybean prices in Chicago have been up, averaging around $6.42 a bushel going into the middle of the month, compared with $6.23 in October and the average in October of 1975 of $4.97 a bushel.

As opposed to wheat and corn, the soybean crop was down significantly this year, meaning a brisk domestic and foreign demand has caused higher prices.

The price report issued monthly by USDA involves weighting farm prices of various products according to their importance in the over-all price index.

Bulletin

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Dorsett, the University of Pittsburgh's brilliant running back who said he should have won the Heisman Trophy last year, finally won it today and gained recognition as the top college football player in the country.

Officials made the announcement before Dorsett's arrival. His plane had been delayed en route from Pittsburgh.
